Annual State of State Message

Rocky Vows No New Taxes

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — Governor Rockefeller delivered an election year "state of the state" message to the opening of the 193rd legislature today that contained few surprises and a pledge of no new state taxes for 1970.

The governor's annual message, in contrast to last year's call for an across the board cut in state spending, promised additional state funds for welfare and education.

Rockefeller, who only months ago said the "cupboard is bare" as far as state funds were concerned, promised nearly a half billion dollars in new state spending.

"We can no longer tolerate poverty, hunger, injustice, deterioration of our cities, inadequate housing, faltering mass transportation, poor education and poor health," Rockefeller said. He added that "we cannot tolerate the growing wave of crime which threatens the nation and destroys the quality of life for our citizens."

The message carried all the hallmarks of a re-election campaign platform for the three term Republican governor.

Rockefeller promised liberals a 10 per cent cost of living increase in welfare payments, a hike in the minimum wage to a national high of $1.85 an hour and said he supports abortion law reform and an 18-year-old voting age.

Beleagued taxpayers were told the state would hold the line on taxes, while providing more money for schools. Consumer protection and cleaning up air, water and noise pollution were given high priorities.

Conservatives were given the hardest line in memory on crime in the streets—including a special state prosecutor with powers to swoop into corrupt local governments in a manhunt against organized crime, Narcotics and the teenage addict will also be targets of the governor's crime program.

The proposal drew general praise and qualified support from Republican leaders including Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges and Assembly Speaker Perry B. Durvae.

Assembly Minority Leader Stanley Steingut, D-New York, had another point of view, however.

"The governor's legislative program falls far short of meeting the immediate needs of the people and is a disaster in its failure to come to grips with the challenges of the decade of the seventies," Steingut said.

The major new state programs proposed by the governor included:

EDUCATION—An increase in the aid to schools ceiling from $760 to $900 per pupil, a program costing about $300 million.

BLAINE—Initial approval of a constitutional amendment for a repeal of the Blaine amendment as the first step in providing state aid to parochial schools.

ABORTION—A reintroduction of his program for reform of the state's abortion law.

CONSUMERS—A new state consumer protection board in the executive department.

PSC—Complete reorganization of the Public Service Commission to assure "adequate, dependable utility service at the lowest possible cost."

CRIME—Establishment of a statewide criminal task force under the attorney general and headed by a special state prosecutor of organized crime.

GUNS—Licensing of shotguns and rifles.

ROCKY GIVES MESSAGE

City Snow Removal Stirs Up Council

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — The condition of Kingston's snow-clogged streets created a storm of controversy at Tuesday night's meeting of the Common Council as several aldermen took the floor to criticize the Department of Public Works and, in some cases, former Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan.

It was a letter dated Dec. 29 from the former mayor, who left office a week ago, that touched off the controversy. In one of his last communications to the Common Council, Garraghan stated, "Your honorable body should enact legislation on snow alerts and snow emergencies. The situation in the city over Christmas weekend was deplorable."

Alderman Edward Norton (D-11th Ward), the Council's majority leader, immediately took the floor and charged that the communication from Garraghan was "completely out of order."

"He (Garraghan) should have acted on his own," Norton said. "Instead, he's passing the buck to the Council. The mayor failed and now he's trying to wave a white flag and pass it to the Council. He should have declared a state of emergency."

"The chief executive has failed," Norton continued. "The letter isn't worth the paper it's written on. Everytime it gets hot in the kitchen they run to the Council. It's the same tactics he's used for the past four years."

Alderman John Machione (R-Second Ward), the Council's minority leader, said he agreed with Norton "1,000 per cent."

"The department of public works has constantly shown its lack of ability to handle the situation and the mayor is the president of that board. We granted emergency powers to the mayor a few years ago. The control is in the hands of the BPW and they should bear the brunt for the terrible job," Machione said.

Alderman Peter Mancuso

(D-12th Ward), chairman of the Traffic Committee, said he has met with Mayor Francis R. Koenig and BPW Superintendent Charles J. Cole in an effort to work out new legislation "to prevent what happened the past two weeks" in the future. Mancuso pointed out that in 1968 the city had 30 inches of snow but had 54 inches in 1969, most of it in the last two weeks of the year.

Mancuso said that members of the BPW have been working up to 18 hours a day on the snow and that the city has had to resort to the hiring of special equipment to combat the effects of the storm. One of those pieces of special equipment the yellow snow loader used on Broadway last week, rents for $174 an hour, Mancuso said.

Speaking of the proposal for new legislation, Alderman Clifford Sinsbaugh (D-10th Ward) said "someone is beating around the bush. There are ordinances on the books prohibiting parking during storms. They pick up cars during storms but there's no place to put them."

Edmond Roux (R-Ninth Ward) said many streets in his ward were not even touched by city plows. "The equipment rides up and down First, Second and Third Avenue but never turns," he said. "I wonder if they have steering wheels in those trucks."

Roux said a truck belonging to the Town of Esopus was plowing in his area on Sunday and "did more work in four hours than city trucks did in two days. The city contracted with Esopus for the use of the trucks."

The aldermen were apparently besieged with phone calls over road conditions since the storm but Albert O. Sonnenberg of 75 Miller's Lane was the only private citizen who showed up at last night's meeting to issue a formal complaint.

Mancuso said his traffic committee was working on new snow legislation and hoped to present it at the next meeting of the Council.

Hot Pizza Cools It in Mountain of Snow

Hot deliveries are at a standstill for this pizza truck blanketed by snow removal operations in Ames, Iowa, shopping center parking lot. Dumping places for excess snow becomes an increasing problem across the northern section of the nation, including Ulster County, as more snow adds to the record pile-up already on the ground.

The current storm which dumped heavy snow to the south did not hit here as predicted overnight or this morning. Forecasters are still saying some light snow is possible for this area with frigid weather due in tonight and tomorrow. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Bill Payments, UR Discussed

KINGSTON — Kingston Common Council members debated a familiar issue, urban renewal, and a not so familiar issue, payment of city bills, at their Tuesday meeting.

Between debates the aldermen approved a request from the treasurer to borrow up to $280,000 in revenue anticipation notes to cover the city's finances until 1970 taxes start coming in.

The aldermen also received from Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan's proposed 1970 budget from Mayor Francis R. Koenig. Koenig asked that they study it and report back to him.

Alderman Edward Norton (D-11th Ward), chairman of the Finance, Ways and Means Committee, said that the Council "could not vote on the budget tonight as submitted."

He said he has requested line item reports from each department head and set a deadline of Jan.

9 for submission to him and his finance committee. "We will study the budget and meet with the mayor," he said. "We hope to have it passed within a few weeks."

The debate on urban renewal resulted from a request by Basement Realty Corp. for Council approval to develop a 15,300 square foot parcel of land in the Uptown Project between North Front and Converse Street (the Goodyear property).

A communication from the agency said that Basement Realty had been approved as a qualified developer by federal officials and that the agency contemplated selling the land for development at a price of $24,000. The agency also proposed a public hearing to be held by the Council on the matter on Jan. 27 in the Council Chambers at 7:30 p.m.

The paying of the city's bills, normally a routine matter, was hardly routine last night.

Alderman John Heitzman, (D-First Ward), the new chairman of the Auditing Committee, at first said that he would not approve any bills for payment that had not been signed by department heads, other than bills which the city assumes on a contract basis.

Heitzman said that he wanted bills submitted for payment to be in by the Wednesday before the regular first Tuesday of the month Council meeting. City Clerk Thomas R. Lyle suggested that Heitzman institute that requirement for the February meeting and pay all the bills for January.

Alderman Emilio A. Primo Jr. (D-Eighth Ward) agreed with Lyle as did Norton.

Heitzman recessed with his committee and came up with $9,330 worth of bills to be paid and $2,000 worth of bills to be held up. The Council approved the payment of the $9,330 worth of bills.

DA Threatens Walkout, Gets Some More Latitude

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Edmund S. Dinis threatened to walk out of court unless Judge James A. Boyle gave him more latitude in questioning witnesses at the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne, it has been learned.

Rather than abort the long delayed inquiry, Boyle told Dinis he could ask desired questions of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, driver of a car that toppled off a Chappaquiddick Island bridge last July, trapping Miss Kopechne inside.

But the 63-year-old judge did have the last word on the order in which witnesses would appear, two sources close to the case said. Dinis, they said, wanted to bring the inquest to a dramatic climax by summoning as the last witnesses Kennedy and the two men the senator said aided his fruitless efforts to dive for the 28-year-old secretary—his cousin, Joseph F. Gargan, and a friend, attorney Paul Markham.

But Judge Boyle, it was learned, ordered otherwise. He said he would not keep a United States senator waiting and ordered that Kennedy be brought forward as the lead-off witness in the inquiry that opened Monday.

At the outset, Boyle had announced that he would permit only testimony directly related to whether Kennedy or anyone else acted criminally concerning Miss Kopechne's death.

The sources gave this account of Monday's events:

When Kennedy took the stand in the nearly empty courtroom in the old Dukes County Courthouse, Dinis began to question him. Judge Boyle, citing his earlier announcement, cut the district attorney off several times.

Dinis protested and Boyle asked Kennedy to step outside. In the subsequent conference between the judge and the district attorney, Dinis said he would walk out of the case unless Boyle let him ask his questions. Boyle reluctantly acquiesced.

When Kennedy returned to the stand, however, Dinis relaxed his questioning and tended to stay within the judge's original limits.

As far as the order of witnesses was concerned, even Gargan and Markham were not saved for the end. They testified Tuesday. They were followed by perhaps three of the five young women who, with Miss Kopechne, attended the steak barbecue on Chappaquiddick which preceded the auto accident.

Rozelle: No Evidence of Wrongdoing

Nationwide Football Gambling Probe Widens

LEN DAWSON

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Len Dawson, veteran Kansas City Chiefs' quarterback, says he had "a casual acquaintance" with a Michigan restaurateur arrested by Internal Revenue Service agents in connection with a nationwide gambling ring.

Dawson is here to take part in Sunday's Super Bowl game between the Chiefs and the Minnesota Vikings—a professional football spectacular that is guaranteed a sellout crowd of 81,000 people.

Dawson 34, was one of six football figures, including three other professional football quarterbacks, NBC reported would be subpoenaed to appear before a grand jury investigating nationwide sports gambling.

NBC said the other pro quarterbacks were Joe Namath of the New York Jets, last year's Super Bowl hero; Bill Munson of the Detroit Lions and Karl Sweetan of the Los Angeles Rams, formerly of the Lions and the New Orleans Saints.

The network also named as prospective witnesses Jet and Pete Lammons and Bob Devaney, head football coach at the University of Nebraska.

NBC said the men were not necessarily involved in gambling but would be questioned to fill in certain holes in the investigation.

U.S. Atty. James Brickley of Detroit was quoted by his secretary as saying after the NBC report "whatever NBC has on is not true."

And professional football commissioner Pete Rozelle said in a prepared statement issued at the Super Bowl site that he had "no evidence to even consider disciplinary action against any of those publicly named."

JOE NAMATH

Dawson, the only one of the restaurateur, Donald Dawson of six who could be reached, said a statement at the hotel where the Chiefs are housed acknowledging that he knew the motel New Year's Day by IRS agents who seized gambling records and some $450,000 in cash and business checks.

Dawson, accompanied by his coach, Hank Stram, appeared at a tension-filled press conference at 11:05 p.m., CST—five minutes after the club's curfew hour—and read a four-paragraph prepared statement with considerable feeling.

"My name has been mentioned in regard to an investigation being conducted by the Justice Department. I have not been contacted by any law enforcement agency or been apprised of the reason my name has been brought up."

"The only reason that I can think of is that I have a casual acquaintance with Mr. Donald Dawson of Detroit who I understand has been charged in the investigation. Mr. Dawson is not a relative of mine."

"I have known Mr. Dawson for about 10 years, and have talked to him on several occasions. My only conversations with him in recent years concerned my knee injuries and the death of my father. On 11 occasions, he contacted me to offer his sympathy. His calls were among the many I received."

"Gentlemen, this is all I have to say. I have told you everything I know."

Then Dawson, dressed in blue slacks, a blue polo shirt and a yellow cardigan, a curl of his black hair falling on his forehead, apologized for the two-hour delay between his statement and Rozelle's, turned and left.

Besides the six prominent football personalities mentioned Tuesday only one other sports name has been connected with the investigation—Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, Baseball Hall of Fame pitcher.

PETE ROZELLE

GROUNDLED — The National space agency said Tuesday that it had grounded Alan L. Bean, the fourth man to walk on the moon, (L-top) and two other astronauts for 30 days because they had violated safe flying rules. Also grounded were Apollo 7 pilot Walter Cunningham (C) and scientist-astronaut Joseph P. Kerwin (R). Bean's violation was taking off in unsafe weather conditions. Bean is shown at controls of jet. The others' violations were unspecified. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Another Delay for Two

KINGSTON — Ulster County Sheriff deputies and other law enforcement officials were kept busy Tuesday afternoon as three accused murderers made appearances in two courtrooms simultaneously.

While the selection of a jury was taking place in the trial of James Boston Douglas, accused murderer of Mrs. Theresa Carpino, two other accused murderers — Gerald McGovern and Charles Culhane arrived at the Court House on Wall Street in leg and arm shackles and under heavy guard. The pair was brought from Greenhaven Prison to Kingston for appearance before Judge Raymond J. Mino who also is presiding at the Douglas trial.

McGovern and Culhane, who are charged with the death of a deputy sheriff in a shootout on the Thruway in September of 1968, had their trial postponed for the fourth time.

Neil Fabricant, new lawyer for McGovern, appeared for both defendants and asked for the postponement because Culhane's lawyer Paul Vladimir is presently engaged in court in Queens County and because he, Fabricant, has commitments for the Legislative session in Albany. Fabricant asked that the trial be postponed until June. District Attorney Joseph P. Torracca urged the earliest possible trial date stating that a material witness "is not in the best of health."

He said he has been prepared for trial since last June. Judge Mino fixed March 9 as the date "for the record" pending the availability of the two lawyers at that time.

The Douglas trial, recessed briefly while the McGovern-Culhane matter was resolved, resumed with Torracca continuing the time-consuming task of jury selection which continued through today.

A Speed Chase Ends in Arrest

HIGHLAND — A high-speed police chase that extended several miles along Route 9W (South) to the Ulster-Orange county line early today ended with the arrest of 22-year-old Carmine Carfarone of Winnikee Avenue, Poughkeepsie.

State Police Sergeant Stanley Kowalik said Lloyd Town Constable David Hurt spotted a car driven by Carfarone passing a stop sign and entering Route 9W in this community. Hurt gave chase and was joined by Troopers George Hazlett and R. J. Faugh.

The police vehicles pursued the car driven by the Poughkeepsie man at speeds up to 100 miles an hour along the highway through communities including the Town of Marlborough. Police overtook Carfarone just north of the Orange county line.

Carfarone was cited for passing a stop sign, speeding and failure to comply with an order of police.

Fire Destroys Troy Auto Firm

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — A two-alarm fire destroyed Karl's Motors and about 25 cars in this Hudson River valley city early today.

Authorities said the 1½-story brick and frame structure was engulfed in flames quickly after the blaze was discovered by an off duty policeman.

There were no injuries reported, no cause given and no official estimate of the damage.

Schunk Resigns Position As Assistant District Attorney

KINGSTON — The resignation of Philip W. Schunk of Highland as assistant district attorney was announced today by District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca.

Torraca said the resignation effective Jan. 1 was accepted with regret.

Schunk, who had been with the DA's office for the past five years resigned to return to full-time private law practice and to accept an appointment as administrative legal consultant to the president of the State University College at New Paltz.

Schunk has been engaged in the general practice of law in this county since 1959. He served three years as a justice of the peace in the Town of Lloyd, resigning that post to serve as an assistant district attorney. Admitted to practice in all the courts of this state, the United States Supreme Court and the federal District Courts for the Southern and Eastern Districts of New York, he is presently a partner in the firm of Schunk and Torraca, Esqs., with offices at 40 Main Street, New Paltz.

Born in Brooklyn and a product of the Highland local schools, Schunk attended Syracuse University, earning his AB Degree in 1953 and his LL.B. in 1957. He served two years as an intelligence officer with the Strategic Air Command, United States Air Force, and upon his discharge commenced the practice of law in Highland.

He is a member of the New York State and Ulster County

Bar Association, a trustee and the treasurer of the First United Methodist Church of Highland, the president of the Chamber of Commerce of New Paltz and Highland, a member of Adonai

Lodge No. 718, F & AM, and is currently chairman of the Town of Lloyd unit of the Salvation Army Service Committee.

He resides with his wife, a distinct loss to the county prosecutor's staff. Torraca left little doubt that he regarded the district attorney's loss to the college's inestimable gain.

Fire Sweeps House in Modena, Used as Quarters for Migrants

By WALTER S. CLARK

MODENA — State Police from Highland and fire officials today joined in an investigation of a fire that swept a large two-story frame house on the M. Lembo & Sons fruit farm on Freetown Road in this community. Firemen from local units and Clintondale and Plattekill battled the flames for hours.

Michael Lembo Sr., who operates the farm and cold storage plant with his son, Michael, said it would cost in the neighborhood of $30,000 to rebuild the structure, which burned to the ground. The estimate, Lembo noted, did not include the cost of replacing the furniture and equipment that was lost in the early morning blaze.

Authorities pried through the smoldering debris after it was feared a transient might have been in the house. Lembo said firemen noticed footprints in the deep snow leading from the highway to the house.

Fire Chief George Dougherty, who was in charge of firefighters at the scene, doubted that anyone was in the house when the fire erupted. "The footprints didn't appear to be fresh," the chief commented.

Lembo said he and his family were asleep in their home about a quarter of a mile away when the blaze was discovered shortly after 3:15 a.m. Lembo said he understood that someone passing along the Thruway spotted the building in flames and notified authorities.

Modena fire units responded to the alarm and later Dougherty summoned aid from Clintondale and Plattekill through mutual aid. Water was shuttled by apparatus from a pond off Route 44.55 about a mile from the fire scene, the chief said.

According to Lembo, the house contained more than 12 rooms and a large mess hall. The building was completely furnished. The house was used as living quarters for about 40 migrant workers employed on the farm before and during the harvest season, Lembo said. It was not occupied at the time of the fire and electricity and heat had been turned off, Lembo said.

Firemen had to grope their way through deep snow to get to the burning building, it was reported. Fire officials reported that the large house was completely involved in flames when firemen arrived and the flames spread rapidly fanned by a strong wind.

Cited Following Crash, Rearrested With Girl

KINGSTON

An 18-year-old youth was cited Tuesday afternoon for seven vehicle and traffic law violations following a hit-and-run accident and later he was arrested with a 17-year-old girl on charges involving the alleged use of credit cards to obtain more than $800 worth of merchandise according to police. Jose Hernandez, of 12 Wiltwyck Avenue, was booked by Patrolmen Larry Stead and Leon Fitzgerald after the youth's car allegedly was in collision with a vehicle driven by Gerald J. Spratt, 31, of 55 Washington Avenue. Police said Hernandez left the scene following the mishap at O'Neil Street and Bruyn Avenue at 5:35 p.m.

The youth was booked for leaving the scene of an accident, driving without a license, having no registration, driving a car with switched plates, having no proof of insurance, failure to keep to the right and having an altered certificate of registration.

Later, Hernandez was charged with conspiracy third degree.

Detective Lieut. Charles McCullough said Hernandez was accused of conspiring with Rosemary M. Eckert, 17, who gave her address as 32 North Wilbur Avenue, by using credit cards to obtain merchandise at local and New York City stores. McCullough said the merchandise involved was worth more than $800.

After the arrest of Hernandez, the girl was charged by detectives with third degree grand larceny and second degree forgery involving the purchases of the merchandise.

Hernandez and the girl were committed to the county jail pending appearances before City Judge Hubert A. Richter.

According to a police report of the two-car collision, Spratt was driving west on O'Neil Street when the Hernandez vehicle, going in the opposite direction, crossed over to the left of the street and collided with the Spratt vehicle. No injuries were reported.

Yablonski Backers Grow Impatient

CLARKSVILLE, Pa. (UPI) — Supporters of miners union official Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski expressed impatience today with an investigation which state police acknowledged has developed "no clues, no leads and no motive" for his killing.

Yablonski's two surviving sons asked more than 7,000 miners to end a wildcat sympathy strike that closed mines in three states. However, leaders of 10,000 members UMW District 31 in Northern West Virginia vowed to close all of the nation's mines by noon today unless the slayers were apprehended.

Brothers Joseph and Kenneth Yablonski, both lawyers, calling on the miners to return to work, said the killing of their father, their mother and their sister was the work of "professional assassins" and "an outgrowth of our father's State police established a command post in the fire house here and systematically questioned the townspeople. They received reports Yablonski had told his neighbors of a suspicious car with white out-of-state license plates prowling around his comfortable stone farmhouse.

Yablonski brothers in their bitterly worded statement, UMW officials in Washington, D.C., said they would not attend the funeral. The brothers said they did not want the union officials to dedicate memorials to their father, attend the funeral or visit his home.

The funeral is to be 11 a.m. EST Friday in Clarksville's Catholic Church. The celebrant will be Msgr. Charles Owen Rice of Pittsburgh, known as "the labor priest" for his support of union organizing drives in industrial Western Pennsylvania.

EMBITTERED — Embittered over the slayings of their parents and sister, Kenneth and Joseph Yablonski (center right and left dark coats) leave the funeral home at Millsboro, Pa., Tuesday. The sons of the late United Mine Workers official charged the murders were done by professional assassins and linked the killings to strife within the union. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Steep Hike Is Possible In Levy on Cigarettes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon may seek increases in several federal excise taxes, including a possible steep hike in the cigarette tax, to help keep his promise of a balanced budget.

Government sources disclosed the Treasury has drafted and sent to the White House "a number of alternatives," including higher excise levies, for boosting tax revenues in fiscal 1971. Some of the proposals will appear in Nixon's budget message Jan. 27.

The federal taxes on gasoline, automobiles, liquor, tobacco, and telephone service—which together provide the bulk of the $16 billion of excise revenues collected each year—were all mentioned for possible increase.

One high official also mentioned a possibility that "socially desirable" objectives might be sought. "The increase asked for tobacco might be higher," this source said.

But the value added tax that has long intrigued Nixon—in effect a sales tax imposed on the value added to a product at each stage of its manufacture—apparently has been ruled out completely.

Congress dislikes the device and critics of the tax contend it fosters price increases instead of dampening inflation.

Nixon recently promised the budget would be balanced and hinted that tax increases might be proposed to achieve that end. A deficit would be "irresponsible and intolerable" in these inflation-ridden times, he told reporters in San Clemente, Calif.

Actually Nixon had hoped for a substantial surplus in the government year starting July 1, but rising costs and uncertain revenue prospects have sent his aides scurrying for enough additional revenues to cover safely the expected record spending level of more than $200 billion.

Congress shut the door on any increase in income taxes in enacting the massive tax reform bill last month. The quest for revenues therefore has focused largely on excises and "user charges"—taxes on the users of highways, airports, and waterways to help defray the government's financial support of those facilities.

The user charges seem likely to provide little help in Nixon's dilemma; every President since Franklin D. Roosevelt has urged substantial increases in them but Congress seldom has obliged.

However, the House approved a bill last session to increase the tax on airline passenger tickets from 5 per cent to 8 per cent, and Nixon is expected to urge the Senate to act promptly on that measure.

The excise taxes on liquor, beer and wine produce about $4.5 billion a year. The tobacco tax provides $2.1 billion of revenue annually, the excises on autos, trucks, and parts about $2 billion, and the tax on telephone and telegraph service about $1.1 billion.

The federal gasoline tax is four cents a gallon and the cigarette tax $4 per thousand. The tax on distilled liquor is $10.56 a proof gallon, and the tax on beer and malt liquors is $9 for a 31-gallon barrel.

There may be little enthusiasm for increasing the excises, especially the automobile and telephone taxes. Congress had voted to "repeal" both of those in year-by-year stages, but the process was halted by the soaring costs of the Vietnam war.

The auto tax, formerly 10 per cent, got down to 7 per cent before it was frozen. The telephone levy, after a very brief period of reduction, was restored to 10 per cent. Trucks and buses are still taxed at 10 per cent.

Teamster Wage Bid Adds to Nixon Woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A slowing in the economic indicators that we see," Shultz said at a Tuesday news conference in the first open break among top level Nixon administration economists.

Shultz, saying his was a "personal view," added Paul McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, might be moving toward the same conclusion, but McCracken declined comment.

Shultz said the administration will continue a hands-off policy in labor disputes, but he indicated the government would have to consider action in the event of a nationwide trucking shutdown.

"I don't think it's likely," Shultz said, but a trucking source said the industry was in an even tougher mood than three years ago when it staged a three-day nationwide lockout in retaliation for scattered Teamsters strikes.

"We don't mind shutting down," the source said. "We couldn't afford to do anything else" if the Teamsters stick to their contract demands.

The source said the trucking industry suffered a 13 per cent drop in net income in the past year.

While Shultz declined to connect the Teamsters bargaining with inflation, the Nixon policy has been to impose stringent fiscal and monetary policies to slow the economy, and depend on that to pressure unions and industries to slack off on big wage and price hikes.

Organized labor, chiefly the 13.6 million member AFL-CIO, has complained bitterly the Nixon policies threaten the nation with a severe economic depression and rising unemployment, while prices continue to soar at the current rate of nearly 6 per cent a year.

Shultz declined to say whether a continued tight money policy would threaten a recession, but said "the monetary restrictions are too tight."

He apparently came to that conclusion only recently. Two weeks ago in an interview he said Nixon's anti-inflation policies were beginning to work and expressed no such concern about the money supply.

The union's three-year pay demands representing at least a 45 per cent increase and totaling $2.50 an hour for 450,000 workers—most now averaging $4 an hour—were set for presentation to the trucking industry today.

The demands also include an additional $1.25 per hour in fringe benefits and extra cost-of-living pay if prices continue rising in the nation's worst inflationary spiral in nearly 20 years, it was learned.

At the same time, Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz said high interest rates creating a tight money supply—a key Nixon weapon against inflation—were squeezing business too hard in the slowing economy.

"If we keep the stranglehold on the money supply, the prospects are for more signs of

Ellenville's New Manager Likens Self to LaGuardia

By SHANE CROSBY

ELLENVILLE — "Every man makes his own reputation," commented newly appointed village manager Lawrence E. Eyres shortly after he was named Monday to replace Paul Boucher who resigned under fire in July.

The 44-year-old appointee who served as City Manager for Elmira for the past 18 months and in several other Elmira city posts before that, said although he is not familiar with the case that surrounded the Boucher resignation, he is aware that his progress as village manager will under go close examination by residents and officials alike.

Speaking of a recent interview with another community that was seeking a manager, Eyres said "You can pick up an Elmira telephone book and ask anyone there what they think of me."

The village fathers have been searching for a new manager since the mid-July resignation of Boucher who was charged with signing a check that did not belong to him and later accused of falsely claiming he was a graduate of two colleges. The search was publicly announced in August when Ellenville Mayor Robert Dowling said bluntly "things are pretty much under control, and we are taking steps to obtain a new manager."

That search ended Monday with the appointment of Eyres who will take office next week. His appointment was made with a pay increase of $7,500 from the $10,500 that was given the former manager.

Comparing himself to Fiorello H. LaGuardia who ran New York City with a personal touch from 1933 to 1945, Eyres said in a Freeman interview that he is seeking the "personal contact with the people." Eyres contends that the personal contact is lost as the position becomes higher in a "chain of command filled with committees" between the leader and the people. "Some people called me a LaGuardia-type of manager—always where the action is. I like people and want to meet them."

With a likeable personality and an almost 300-pound frame, Eyres said his "personal touch" has guided him through 18 years of municipal service in New York State communities.

"I know New York State, and I know New York State law," he said. "I feel I can be more effective in a New York community than out of state."

He also knows Urban Renewal, an issue considered important to the future development of Ellenville. For the past six years, Elmira has been embarking on a $4.5-million urban renewal program that now has been expanded to $7.5 million, about three times the cost of Ellenville's.

A city of 50,000 citizens and 500 municipal employees, Eyres said he prefers the life of Ellenville over Elmira for the same reason he favors the LaGuardia style—personal contact.

Married and the father of three daughters, two of whom are in the under-college age set, Eyres said the progressive way of life in a community the size of Ellenville is best for his family.

Active in community affairs, Eyres has been close to youth problems in his municipal work, saying that at one time he thought of going into social work.

He served as Field Scout Executive for the Boy Scouts of America from 1949 to 1952, a member of the executive board of the Community Chest in the Elmira area, president of a Parent-Teacher Association, and received the special designation as Young Man of the Year in Elmira in 1956.

N.Y. in 1969: Possibly 900 Drug Deaths

NEW YORK (UPI)—At least 850 persons and possibly 900, including a 12-year-old boy, died from drug abuse in New York City last year, a city medical examiners report has revealed. More than 200 of the victims were teenagers, Associate Medical Examiner Dr. Michael M. Baden, said Tuesday. Walter Vandermeer, 12, of Harlem, was thought to be the youngest drug victim in the city's history.

Baden said there was a "very noticeable" increase in the number of drug deaths in white middle class neighborhoods. The overall figure was six times higher than a decade ago.

School Overcrowding Big Worry in New Paltz

NEW PALTZ — In what is billed as "an urgent message" the board of education of New Paltz Central Schools has sent a booklet to district residents asking opinion on how to solve overcrowding in the system.

Saying that the 12 grades of the system will be overcrowded by the next term, the board says in the booklet "By 1971-1972 we will have reached an impossible situation. Even with our unsatisfactory emergency housing arrangement... we will be bursting at the seams."

The board is recommending construction of a new primary school "as soon as possible" at the intersection of Route 32 and the Jenkintown Road, called the "Young site." The board also advises construction of another classroom wing to the high school.

"The Young site," on the south side of New Paltz, "meets all our requirements for an ideal primary school site," said the board in the booklet.

A total of 1,314 students reside within five miles of site, said the board, while only 612 live within five miles of an alternative site located in the Village of Gardiner.

On the last page of the booklet, a questionnaire is offered along with a return envelope. Supervising Principal Frederick Dippel told The Freeman the results of the questionnaire will be turned over to the board, which said Dippel, may hold a special vote around March or April on the planned purchase of the young site.

A similar vote held last summer resulted in a rejection by residents, but Dippel said a "poor turnout" was at least partly responsible.

Early response to the booklet

Highland Dispute In Court

HIGHLAND — Highland Central Schools goes into the court room Friday to defend its selection of site preparation contractor, following charges by the second lowest bidder that nepotism is involved in the contract award.

Schools officials were served with a show cause order late Friday from the Lehman Construction Company of Kingston, the second lowest of five bidders for the work on the planned $2.5-million elementary school.

Lehman contended in the order that an official of the school is related to an officer of the winning contractor.

School business manager Robert Demarest denied Friday that nepotism was involved and said further that he had not received the order as of shortly after noon Friday. Officials of the Kingston firm, however, contended the order was in the school office by that time.

A special term of State Supreme Court will hear both sides in the dispute at 10 a.m. Friday in Albany.

Worthy of Notice

We are all well aware of how the regressive sales taxes, levied for the explicit purpose of helping to lessen the burden on real property taxpayers—so we were told—are being used for increased spending including salary hikes. However, there are notable exceptions elsewhere.

County property taxes were canceled in the Essex County budget for 1970. The budget director kept the promise made in 1966 when a county sales tax was enacted. His pledge to the people was if the sales tax revenue exceeded estimates, real property taxes would be reduced.

The Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, Inc. also points out in its publication that the City of Plattsburgh also enjoys the prospect of little or no levy on real estate due to similar application of sales tax revenue for property tax reduction instead of increased spending.

Here are examples worthy of emulation.

If Congress was really serious about inflation control it also could have made a start with expenditures. Instead, it has been handing out raises with an open hand, beginning with one for itself early in the current session.

1,406 Missing Americans

By handing North Vietnam and Viet Cong liaison officers a list of 1,406 missing Americans as of Christmas Eve, U.S. Ambassador Philip D. Habib hoped they would reciprocate by producing a full list of their own, including the names of American prisoners known to be dead. The allies have made available to the International Committee of the Red-Cross the names of enemy prisoners held in the south.

However, the appeal that verification is simply a matter of humanitarian concern for the men's families fell on deaf ears. The Communists again rebuffed allied pleas. They refuse to apply the Geneva convention on prisoners of war. Their claim is that Americans in their hands are guilty of war crimes.

Furthermore, the Hanoi delegates refuse to negotiate the prisoner of war question on the ground that it must await overall settlement of the war. This is the reason that the United States through Habib charged that Hanoi was using the prisoners of war as pawns. Habib charged that Hanoi is isolating itself in the eyes of world public opinion by claiming the war prisoners' question was "a perfidious maneuver, to camouflage filthy American crimes."

As a matter of fact, in relation to the number of men involved and the length of the war to date, the number of known Americans missing and presumed to be prisoners of war is proportionately fewer than normal. American battle deaths have already passed 40,000, as compared to 33,029 battle deaths suffered in the Korean war. But the prisoners of war are much fewer than the Korean war and considerably less than the number of Communist prisoners in allied hands.

The frustrating thing about the American prisoners of war problem is that less than 10 per cent have been allowed to communicate with their families. That is why, with the negotiations stalemated, Habib is doing everything possible to reduce the heartache and cruel uncertainty their families suffer.

Showing a film in Moscow's largest theater in which Nikita S. Khrushchev says, "We have reached such heights now that we can see where we are going" may have been a dire joke. Khrushchev was ousted as Premier five years ago. His successors show how far he has fallen since his quoted speech to the 1956 party congress.

Absenting himself from the so-called Peace negotiations in Paris, Xuan Thuy, North Vietnam's chief delegate, was affronted that no immediate high ranking successor to Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge had been appointed. If North Vietnam really wants peace, the matter of rank would not be any consideration.

"Maybe We Should Talk This Over!"

David Lawrence Says Nixon's Accurate Gauge Of U.S. Public Opinion

WASHINGTON — How is President Nixon getting on — is he "making good"? The public-opinion polls periodically give some answers, but a pertinent factor is the manner in which Mr. Nixon differs from other Presidents in the handling of the biggest executive job in modern government.

Comparisons are difficult to make because the problems have grown in complexity. But Mr. Nixon has introduced a practical method and approach that thus far have given him the necessary information and advice — as well as optional courses to follow — which are so essential to the making of presidential decisions. He has many task forces of competent counselors, and they come up with lots of data and advice. But it is his final judgment in each case as to what is practical and will gain the support of the public.

The formula for conducting the highest office in the land has changed substantially since the early decades of the century. There was a time when the cabinet — which met at least twice a week — could deal with almost every important question, and the President could get guidance quickly. But things began to be different when international issues became dominant. Presidents soon turned to another device — advisers outside the cabinet. Often they persuaded the President to deviate from a cabinet member's recommendation.

No single cabinet officer can become proficient in giving advice on all the matters which confront a President. Mr. Nixon finds it desirable, for example, as did other Presidents, to have a special adviser at his elbow to clarify the memoranda coming from ambassadors abroad or state department officials at home.

Some domestic matters now have become as challenging as the demands of foreign policy. There are cabinet committees on economic problems, urban affairs and such subjects as "environmental control," which includes water and air pollution as well as noise. Assisting the department heads are commissions and task forces. Sometimes there are reports released to the press in advance of a final decision on the subject by the President. This helps to test out public sentiment.

"Position papers" are prepared, and alternative courses are outlined. Discussions are held at which administrative action and legislative proposals are analyzed. In the field of education alone, a four-billion-dollar appropriation bill is pending in Congress, and the President has to familiarize himself with the methods that may have to be employed and just how the funds will be utilized. It is estimated that there are between 500 and 1,000 federal aid programs for education, and a president must determine if they are workable.

Mr. Nixon has a lawyer's mind and wants analysis based on existing facts. He tackles problems with an orderliness that is getting results. Discord within the executive branch of government is relatively small.

What part does politics play in the decision-making or deal? Mr. Nixon is well aware of political criticisms that can ensue no matter which way he decides. He makes up his mind on the basis of what is termed common sense and practicality. He is anxious always to know the attitude of Congress, but he feels also that his decisions must take into account the ultimate results rather than be swayed by uninformed criticism at the moment.

The Nixon policy in carrying out a steady withdrawal of troops from Vietnam has apparently won the approval of the country, and the critics in Congress are not as vocal as before. The anti-war demonstrations have less backing today than they did a few months ago. On the whole, while no issues are satisfactorily resolved in a short space of time, the public appraises a President by the conscientiousness he displays in his official activities.

Mr. Nixon thus far has benefitted by the feeling that the "silent majority" of the people are behind him. He has wisely refrained, however, from ignoring some of the good points that his critics have made on a variety of questions. He is, in fact, an open-minded President who knows that "good politics" is, in reality, what the American people believe to be decisions in the public interest. During his first year in the Presidency, Mr. Nixon has interpreted with a remarkable accuracy the mood of public opinion in America.

Solution for Earth's Ills May Come From the Moon

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent
BOSTON (NEA) — By one of those ironies of history, new developments make it likely the billions spent on going to the moon (which many think had been better spent on fighting hunger, illiteracy and poverty) may prove to be the one means by which we can make significant gains in our lifetime toward realizing those aims in the world's underdeveloped nations.

For example: it now appears that stemming the death of millions in India from starvation, which, it had seemed, would take generations to achieve, now appears possible within our own lifetime.

There are many who believe the rapid elimination of illiteracy is necessary if the developing countries of Africa, Latin America and Asia are to achieve reasonable governments, viable economies and a growth sufficient to keep their peoples from despair. Normally it would take decades to achieve universal education and wipe out illiteracy in all the smallest of such countries, even with massive infusions of United States aid. Now it appears that the time and cost requirements can be cut to a fraction of what they were.

To see how this may be possible, consider this development, now in the planning stage: India has requested and the United States approved a joint venture by which this country would assign one or more channels in a stationary satellite to make possible television broadcasts to 5,000 Indian villages. The receivers (one or more for each village) would be provided by India. The programs would be designed by India.

These broadcasts would have a variety of themes. Some what like the county agents in America, they would give farmers information on new and better types of rice and other crops, on better farming techniques, on sanitation, on drilling wells, on proven irrigation methods, on improved fertilizing and on nutrition.

Other programs would provide basic education for tens of millions who can neither read nor write.

This first attempt is experimental. As bugs are eliminated and experience gained, the concept will be expanded to cover India's other 45,000 villages.

What will work for India hopefully will work for scores of other countries in Asia, Latin America and Africa whose problems are illiteracy, backward farming techniques and lack of sanitation which makes widespread disease inevitable.

But this revolution, made possible by space developments, is not limited to such programs. Brazil and Mexico have proposed joint projects with the United States space agency for using aerial and space studies of crop potential and agricultural resources for boosting food output and rural development. Presumably this program would eventually be expanded to report on crop diseases and weather conditions early enough so that disasters could be fought early.

The Western European community has been having discussions with this country for a joint air traffic management and control through satellites project.

Japan has approved the United States for a joint program on weather prediction as an aid to shipping and agriculture.

These programs are aid in the best sense. That is, they help these nations help themselves. They are joint programs in which the national officials and national scientists play important roles and in which the national governments share the costs.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials report the nations asking for these joint projects want it this way. It preserves their pride and trains their own technicians.

It may be noted that for years the U. S. attempted to solve India's recurring starvation by shipping huge stocks of food annually. The attempt failed because this aid did nothing to raise India's own food output, and her population growth increased the number of starving people faster than our aid programs could supply the food.

Hush-Hush Deal Involves Nixon's Former Law Partner

WASHINGTON — The Securities and Exchange Commission has been strangely reluctant to take action against a questionable multi-million-dollar Swiss bank deal that deeply involves one of President Nixon's former law partners, Randolph Guthrie.

The Federal Reserve, which advised the SEC on the Guthrie case, is also handling it with asbestos gloves. Only U. S. Attorney Robert Morgenthau of New York City has shown any interest in investigating Guthrie's activities. But Attorney General John Mitchell, another former partner in the Old Nixon law firm, has now fired Morgenthau.

Both the SEC and Federal Reserve have done everything possible to protect Guthrie by withholding vital facts from the public. This column's investigation of the Guthrie deal has also been hampered by the refusal of his law firm to discuss it.

Nevertheless, fearful but authoritative government sources have revealed the essential elements of Guthrie's role in the multi-million-dollar manipulations.

Like most matters of high finance, the deal is complex. It began with an attempt by Liquidities Industries, a firm with considerable debts already, to take over control of an older and wealthier firm, UMC Industries.

To finance the takeover, another company, Studebaker-Worthington, whose $47,800-a-year board chairman is Randolph Guthrie, the Nixon law firm, incidentally, collected $484,859 in 1968 from Studebaker-Worthington.

When the financing couldn't be arranged, Liquidities turned to a Swiss bank, the Banque de Paris et des Pays-Bas (Suisse) of Geneva. Guthrie has been counsel for the Swiss bank's interests for years — a fact that both the SEC and Federal Reserve tried to hush up.

Under Guthrie's guidance, the Swiss bank pulled off a deal with Liquidities that if one willfully by an American bank would have been a violation of U. S. criminal laws.

$40 Million for $3 Million — The Swiss bank soaked Liquidities more than $3 million in placement and other fees — legal, even in the U. S., but high. In exchange Liquidities got a $40 million loan from the bank, secured by the same UMC stock that Liquidities was buying.

This use of UMC stock as collateral in advance of its actual purchase meant that 100 per cent of Liquidities' Swiss bank financing, or close to it, was on a credit margin. If a U. S. bank willfully had given Liquidities more than 20 per cent margin credit on such a deal, the bank would have been subject to criminal prosecution.

Irving Trust Company, the New York banking giant, also helped with the financing and, although its fees were fat, it carefully required full compliance with SEC and Federal Reserve regulations. As it happens, Irving Trust is another client of the old Nixon law firm.

Thus, Guthrie used his position as legal adviser to both the Banque de Paris and Irving Trust to help patch the deal together.

The SEC and the Fed, meanwhile, got wind of the enormous Swiss bank deal which openly skirted U. S. stock regulations. This raised a sticky question: could the manipulators avoid prosecution by using a foreign bank?

Stanley Sporkin, associate director of the SEC's Trading and Markets Division, went to the Fed's Assistant Director of Supervision and regulation, Janet Hart, for advice.

Sporkin, a man with a good record for protecting the public, felt there were violations. Insiders say he was ready to tackle the case if given backing by the Fed.

What he got from the Fed, however, was the advice that the case might fail. This attitude could open the "funny money" financing of U. S. stock deals by foreign banks.

Regulation in Secret — The former Nixon law firm, all the while, was earning its fees. At a secret meeting in the Fed's plush Watergate branch, members of the firm sat down with Miss Hart, Sporkin and other officials. There, the regulators and the regulated did public business in private.

Miss Hart grudgingly conceded to this column that the Nixon firm — now known as Mudge, Rose, Guthrie and Alexander — were represented at the private conference and that the Swiss bank deal was discussed.

Whatever decisions were reached outside the public's earshot, the SEC made no formal effort to block the deal. Sporkin's exploration of possible violations was aborted.

The Fed blames the case's demise on the SEC, saying that Sporkin could have acted if he wished and that the Fed's role was purely advisory. Sporkin lamely concedes that the SEC could have moved vigorously if it had dared.

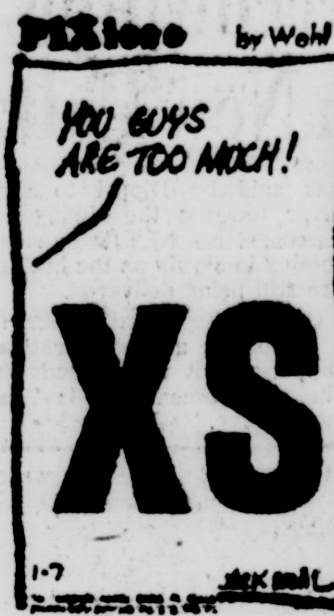

Now the results of the cop-out by the SEC and Fed are beginning to show up. A few days ago, Liquidities sold out its controlling shares in UMC to the very same Swiss bank that financed the deal. Liquidities took a $14.8 million scalping, because its debts to the banks forced it to sell the UMC shares to the Swiss bank's subsidiary.

$6 a Share Licking — The price was $6 a share less than Liquidities paid for them. This was a high price that the stockholders had to pay, because the SEC and Federal Reserve seemed more interested in protecting Nixon's former law partner than the public.

And lo, as the smoke cleared from this coup in UMC stock by the Swiss bank, there was the bank's U. S. counsel, Randolph Guthrie, as UMC's new chairman of the board. Another member of Nixon's old firm, H. Ridgely Bullock, also turned up as a director of UMC.

Meanwhile, the Swiss banks with their shady deals can also thank Attorney General Mitchell that they are in the hands of the kindly, indulgent SEC and Federal Reserve instead of the sney fingers of a tough prosecutor like Morgenthau.

Note: It should be emphasized that President Nixon cut all his ties with his former law firm a year ago. He was paid in full for his share of the partnership, and his name was removed from the firm's stationery and door. Since he moved into the White House, he hasn't received a penny in profits from the firm.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Respect, patriotism and love are gone. I mourn them; I grieve for their passing. The United States of America was a straight tall redwood among a world of nations which seemed for a time, to be ferns around her roots. The tall tree, I am convinced, is infested with dry rot and great sections of the bark are falling off.

I am not one of those everything-is-going-to-hell men. It requires a great deal of evidence for me to condemn a person, an institution, or a land. In retrospect, it seems to me that America has become turbulent, tempestuous and unreliable within the past fifteen years.

This would take us back to the May 1954 decision of the Supreme Court which gave to all of us, black and white and red and brown, a legal equality of services. Anyone who argues that this has advanced the case of the American Negro had better speak to some of the blacks who have been burned out, bombed out, shot at, harassed and unemployed.

The ruling was intended to be a good thing for all Americans. Neither side was adult enough to live with it, and it is in the finest traditions of irony that the ones who might have profited most by a new standard of equality—black youth — fought with fury against it. Name for me which blacks, which whites, are living more at peace today.

Nor is this the only sign of America's failure to rise to the challenge of the last half of the twentieth century. Events now dictate to men. Elect any President you please, but he will inherit the same problems; and worse—the same superficial solutions as his predecessor. Party doesn't mean anything any more. A conservative Democrat and a conservative Republican are brothers.

A liberal Republican and a liberal Democrat are identical twins. Politicians are wearing the wrong masks. Can anyone explain why it is that the dollar we had few years ago is worth 84 cents now? Can they do anything about your grocery bills and mine? Everything we need is out of reach.

will phase out of Vietnam by 1973. Phase out means that the last of our youngsters — except a heavy cadre of advisers — will be home by then. If so, our little foray into Southeast Asia will have cost us about 60,000 dead and about two hundred and ten billions of dollars.

We will have been in it about a decade — the longest war in our history. No one wanted it. No one wants it now. No one wants to live with it until 1973. And our young men, by the thousands, perhaps millions, schemed with their parents regarding ways and means of keeping out of it.

No war is popular. In World War II, we put 14,000,000 persons in uniform. Today we must devise new ways of dragging our whimpering bearded boys to report for duty. They run off to Canada, they hide, they beg off, the heavyweight champion of the world weeps that he is a minister — militarily, America is only as strong as its cold weapons.

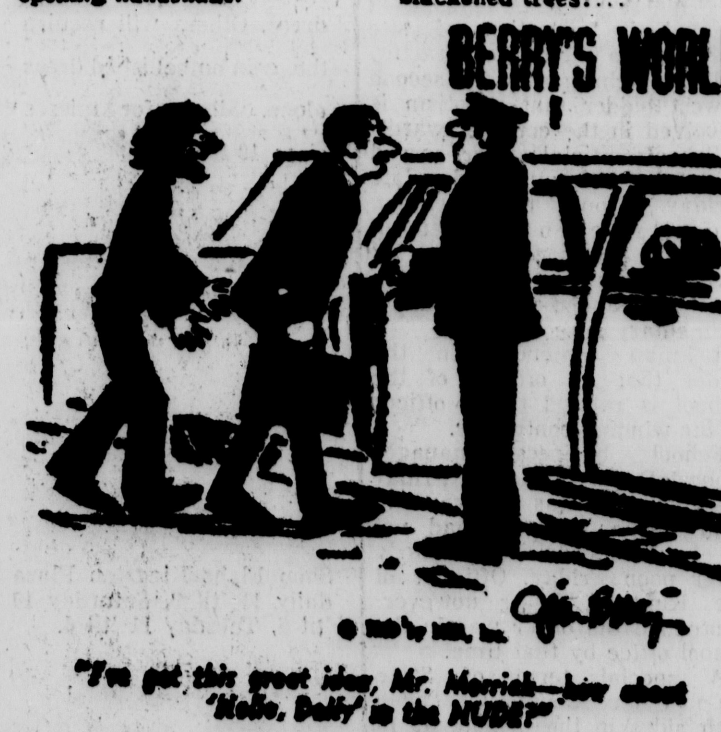

Our young preach love as though they invented the word. No generation within my purview shouts "love!" with so much venom. Their emotions are so flaccid that they require drugs to make their world palatable. To them sex is not God's blessing upon an honorable union. They use it for the opening handshake.

I do not require respect from any man, except from myself. In my past is a trail of sin like old embers, but there was never a solitary day of my life that I didn't try to hitch up my pants and be just a little bit better than yesterday. I can't find youths who will even look at me when they speak. They study the mud on their shoes.

All through the repetitive debates in the churlish congresses, I have kept faith in this land because, in all history, none has been so blessed. But now my spirits flag and I study an expensive demagogic Congress and I think those Senators and Representatives owed it to our President to give his plans a chance. They rammed bills down his throat which he dared not veto. His own party made him look bad.

It doesn't matter whether a man is in Nixon's corner or not — he's every American's President. He works for all of us and gets paid by all of us. He was entitled to one year of cooperation — and now the year is gone.

Isn't it about time that all of us, every last one of us, returned to fundamental virtues of respect, patriotism and love? Would it hurt so much to try, or is this land of milk and honey to be like ancient Rome — a few fluted columns, a history book of desolation, a forest of blackened trees?

Freeman Readers Write Letters to Editor

Representative, Government
Editor, The Freeman,
I'm not arguing the rights or wrongs of zoning.

I was brought up to believe in representative government and God. I was taught that public officials were to do the bidding of the people they represent as long as it's within the constitution of the U.S.A.

President Nixon speaks of the silent majority. The Marletown Business Association went to the silent majority for their views on the zoning in the town of Marletown. Of the 967 returned questionnaires, 139 were for and 805 were against. These questionnaires were given to the town board members.

On Dec. 29, 1969 I was present at a Marletown Board meeting where every board member voted for the zoning ordinance. I personally feel this was directly against the people's feeling according to the questionnaire received back.

I've tried to teach my children that the government of the U.S. represents the people and acts in accordance with the people's wishes.

I would like to have the members of the town board of Marletown explain to my children what representative government is and how it works. I also wonder how the students in UCCU who have followed or have knowledge of the proceeding of the passage of the zoning ordinance feel about representative government in the town of Marletown.

Our image must be outstanding?

Vermont's Green Mountains
Editor, The Freeman:
Having spent part of my life in the beautiful Green Mountain State, Vermont, where my father was born, I was intensely interested in the column by Peter Barrecchia, managing editor, Freeman issue December 31, 1969.

May I suggest if you are ever in Bennington again, do try to visit its Museum which contains a tremendous collection of the noted Bennington Pottery. Also in the village is one of New England's loveliest churches (Congregational, I believe) with a breathtaking interior. The nearby cemetery contains the graves of five of the state's governors and is termed Vermont's Colonial Shrine. There also is the grave of Stephen Fay, owner of the Catamount Tavern where Ethan Allen and his Green Mountain Boys planned and later executed the capture of Fort Ticonderoga. A pedestal surmounted by a catamount marks the Tavern spot.

In conclusion may I say that the beauty of Vermont's Green Mountains is exceeded only by the heart-warming hospitality of its natives. Quoting Calvin Coolidge, "I love Vermont because of her hills and valleys, her scenery and invigorating climate, but most of all, because of her indomitable people. They are a race of pioneers who have begged themselves to serve others. If the spirit of liberty should vanish in other parts of the Union and support of our institutions should languish, it could all be replenished from the generous store held by the people of the brave little state of Vermont."

Thank you, Mr. Barrecchia. Most cordially,

Appreciation

Editor, The Freeman:
As The Daily Freeman ran some of my letters and news items during 1969, I hereby express my thanks for doing so. Even though it's a darn shame there are some editors who will not publish letters that mention the Socialist Labor Party, this writer (the count is not complete) had more letters published last year than in any previous year.

Although I am limited in time as I do have to work for a living, I hope to expand letter writing this New Year to include papers in all the 50 states as there certainly is a vital need for the message of the Socialist Labor Party to be heard.

Sincerely Yours,
NATHAN PRESSMAN

Snow Removal
Editor, The Freeman:
There are several features of the recent snow removal operation which disturb me. Primary among these is the fact that not much snow was removed. Not being an expert on snow removal, I cannot suggest a way to make the white stuff go away over night. However, I do have two comments to make:

1) Instead of declaring a "snow emergency" why not institute alternate side of the street parking? On odd numbered days of the month cars may be parked on the odd numbered side of the street and on even numbered days of the month cars may be parked on the even numbered side of the street. This would enable a street to be cleaned and would also enable a place to park cars for people who have no offstreet parking available. This would also enable streets to be cleared during the day instead of only during the night. After all, I do have to work for a living. I hope that this suggestion could be in effect for a certain portion of the year, such as seasons November through March.

'1969 Most Admired Men'

By GEORGE GALLUP

Copyright, 1969, American Institute of Public Opinion. All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited, except with written consent of the copyright holders.

PRINCETON, N.J., Jan. 6 — Three prominent spokesmen for "middle America" — President Richard Nixon, the Reverend Billy Graham and Vice President Spiro Agnew — win the top three positions on the Gallup Poll's 1969 "Most Admired Man" list.

President Nixon, with top honors, wins nearly three times as many votes as the man with the next greatest number of votes, Billy Graham. The famous evangelist and Vice President Agnew, third on the list, are close in the balloting.

With only four exceptions during the 22 years of the Gallup Poll's annual "most admired" lists, a Chief Executive has won the top position. The exceptions were in 1946, 1947, and 1951, when Gen. Douglas MacArthur was number one, and again in 1968, when Dwight D. Eisenhower topped Lyndon Johnson.

Graham was 4th in '68. "Evangelist" Graham has appeared among the top ten for 15 consecutive years, but prior to 1969 never ranked higher than fourth, his position on the 1968 list.

Vice President Agnew, in third place, has the distinction of ranking higher than any other incumbent Vice President during the last 22 years.

Former President Lyndon Johnson is in fourth place, only one vote ahead of Sen. Edward (Ted) Kennedy. Johnson was number two behind Eisenhower last year, while Kennedy was number three on the list.

Humphrey is Sixth

In sixth place, this year as well as last, is former Vice President Hubert Humphrey. Rounding out the top ten are former President Harry S. Truman (ninth place last year), George Wallace in eighth place (he was one place higher last year), Pope Paul VI and Sen. Edward Muskie of Maine.

Muskie appears among the top ten for the first time. He is number ten on the list, a position held by Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota on the 1968 list.

As reported Thursday, Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower heads the 1969 "Most Admired Woman" list. In second and third place are Madame Indira Gandhi and Mrs. Richard Nixon. To determine the list of most admired men reported today, a total of 1,111 adults of both sexes were interviewed in a survey conducted in late November.

The 22 questions were asked of each person to determine first and second choices. What man that you have heard about, living today in any part of the world, do you admire the MOST? — and "Who is your SECOND CHOICE?"

Following are the top ten in the voting, with first and second choices combined:

Most Admired Man — 1969 —

1. Richard Nixon 347
2. Billy Graham 127
3. Spiro Agnew 115
4. Lyndon Johnson 81
5. Edward Kennedy 68
6. Hubert Humphrey 60
7. Harry Truman 55
8. George Wallace 40
9. Pope Paul VI 38
10. Edmund Muskie 33

For comparison, here is last year's top ten:

- Most Admired Man — 1968 —
1. Dwight Eisenhower
 2. Lyndon Johnson
 3. Edward Kennedy
 4. Billy Graham
 5. Richard Nixon
 6. Hubert Humphrey
 7. George Wallace
 8. Pope Paul VI
 9. Harry Truman
 10. Eugene McCarthy

The following men received honorable mention in this year's audit: Bob Hope, Barry Goldwater, John Lindsay, Ronald Reagan, Neil Armstrong, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., Eugene McCarthy, Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, U. Thant, Nelson Rockefeller, George McGovern. Others receiving mention are: Dr. Christian Barnard, Willy Brandt, William F. Buckley, Ralph Bunche, Johnny Carson, Ramsey Clark, Jacques Cousteau, Walter Cronkite, Big Crosby, John Daly, Moshe Dayan, Charles deGaulle, Alexander Dubcek, Abba Eban, J. William Fulbright, James Garrison, Arthur Goldberg, Sen. Charles Goodell.

Also W. Averell Harriman, Paul Harvey, Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, William Randolph Hearst Jr., J. Edgar Hoover, Howard Hughes, Chet Huntley, Chiang Kai-Shek, David Lawrence, Art Linkletter, Charles Lindbergh, David McKay, Robert McNamara, Sen. Mike Mansfield.

Also, Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, Prince Philip, Premier Georges Pompidou, Abraham Ribicoff, Rev. Oral Roberts, Dean Rusk, Rev. Fulton J. Sheen, Dr. Benjamin Spock, Carl Stokes, Gen. Maxwell Taylor and William Westmoreland.

Kennedy Aide to Seek Nomination

NEW YORK (UPI)—William J. vanden Heuvel, a former aide to Robert Kennedy, announced today that he will seek the Democratic nomination for governor of New York.

The 39-year-old attorney announced his candidacy in a five-page statement critical of Governor Rockefeller's domestic policies and views on foreign affairs.

"We come to the end of 12 years of the Rockefeller administration and in his own words, 'the cupboard is bare'—bare of inspiration, bare of solutions, bare of concern for the people government is most obliged to help," vanden Heuvel said.

He called Rockefeller "an advocate of the escalation in Vietnam" and "a knight of the cold war," declaring "I regret the political doubletalk that demands federal funds for our social needs, and then encourages the squandering of those funds in war games."

Vanden Heuvel said "the next governor of New York should be a national spokesman for the demand that an end be found to the war in Vietnam and that our tax dollars go to the needs of our people."

Vanden Heuvel becomes the first Democrat to officially announce his candidacy to oppose Rockefeller.

Vanden Heuvel was appointed a special assistant to then Attorney General Robert Kennedy in 1963 and was an aide to Kennedy in 1967-68 when Kennedy served in the Senate. He was a vice-president of the New York State constitutional convention in 1967 and a delegate to the 1968 Democratic national convention.

His one previous try for public office was in 1960, when he was an unsuccessful candidate for Congress from the 17th district in Manhattan.

He was born in Rochester and graduated from Cornell University and the Cornell Law School.

Successful Investing....

By ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Advisor & Analyst

Portfolio Management a Boon to Businessmen

Q — I am a college sophomore and have recently inherited $13,000. I would like to invest this money for the future. What can you suggest?

— J.R.

A — Two industry areas which promise above-average growth over the next decade are mobile homes and health care. Because other investors are fully aware of their potential stock of companies within these groups commands a high multiple of earnings. Champion Home Builders at 20x and American Sterilizer at 28x estimated earnings appear to be reasonably priced representations of their respective industries.

President Lechner of American Sterilizer recently stated, "We anticipate that new records for both sales and earnings will be set for the year (1969) as a whole." Not only should this company benefit

Probe Fire In Plattekill

PLATTEKILL — Fire officials today investigated the origin of a fire that destroyed the large two-story frame Montone homestead on Lewis Lane in this community. Assistant Chief Raymond Hoppenstadt said firemen responded to an alarm at about 7:45 a.m. and on arrival they found the house engulfed in flames. He said the blaze had gained such a headway before it was reported that firemen were unable to save any part of the structure.

Hoppenstadt said firemen found footprints apparently made by two persons leading to a door of the house and back to the road. The deputy chief said no one was at home when the fire occurred. The investigation will continue, the official said. Fire units reported back in service to mutual aid at 9:10 a.m.

Q — We have a 9-month 40 per cent loss in Midland Co. What are your views on the long-term potential of this company? — C.G.

A — Financing mobile home purchases accounted for a sizable portion of this holding company's operations. Other consumer items, insurance, inland waterway transportation and, most recently, manufacture of mobile homes constitute Midland's various areas of endeavor. A flat September quarter earnings report and tight monetary conditions are factors in the poor market action for these shares. Although still one of the small concerns in the modular and mobile home industry, Midland is in the process of significantly expanding its plant capacity. Shares are a worthwhile long-term growth holding.

Man Sentenced To Year in Jail

ELLENVILLE — A 41-year-old Baltimore, Md., man was sentenced to one year in Ulster County Jail after pleading guilty to criminal mischief in the third degree. Raymond W. Brightful was arrested Dec. 27 when he reportedly attempted to burglarize Woolworth's Store in Ellen-ville.

Town Justice Ronald W. Elias, in sentencing Brightful, did not credit him for time already served.

Brightful, originally charged with third degree burglary and possession of burglary tools, pleaded guilty to the reduced charge through his attorney Albert Lonstein.

Probe Charges by GI Broadcaster

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A congressional subcommittee has begun an investigation into an Army broadcaster's charge that American GIs in Vietnam are listening to censored newscasts, it was learned today.

The inquiry, ordered by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., may culminate next month with a public hearing in Saigon, where the broadcaster and other servicemen will be invited to elaborate on the allegations.

Moss is chairman of the House government information and foreign operations subcommittee, a unit of the Government Operations Committee, which has come to be known as Congress' watchdog on government news and propaganda programs.

Moss telephoned the subcommittee staff from his Sacramento, Calif., home Monday and directed them to look into the charges by Spec. 5 Robert Lawrence of Atlanta. Lawrence was suspended from his job with the Armed Forces Radio and Television Service after Moss is chairman of the having told listeners Sunday night the network's newsmen were "not free to tell the truth" on the air.

The Army has refused comment until its inspector general completes an investigation begun immediately after the incident.

A spokesman for Moss said the Defense Department in Washington has been asked for the facts on the case and for a copy of the inspector general's report, which he said he hoped would be completed by the end of the week.

Moss is tentatively set to visit South Vietnam in February in connection with an investigation of the foreign aid program. If he goes, said the spokesman, "he will probably want to have at least one day of public hearings on this matter."

This is not the first time that Moss has investigated a news service operated by the military. In 1967 his subcommittee conducted an inquiry into charges that the armed forces newspaper, Stars and Stripes, was censoring, suppressing and managing news.

The probe led to an issuance of an order by then Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara that members of the armed forces were "entitled to the same unrestricted access to news as are all other citizens."

The May 1, 1967, memorandum went on to say that the "calculated withholding of unfavorable news" from publications such as Stars and Stripes or the censorship of broadcasts over outlets such as the Armed Forces Radio and Television Service was prohibited.

Bridge Reports Note Records

POUGHKEEPSIE—The average growth in traffic and revenue among the Mid-Hudson Bridge, the Rip Van Winkle Bridge, the Bear Mountain Bridge and the Kingston Rhinecliff Bridge was about five percent but Newburgh span showed an almost 16 per cent jump.

The report for December showed a decrease in traffic and revenue on the Kingston Rhinecliff Bridge and the Bear Mountain Bridge, due mainly to the heavy storms in the latter part of the month.

The authority also pointed out that attempts to beat the 25 cent toll can prove costly. A Cold Spring man ran the toll gate at the Poughkeepsie Bridge and later paid a $25 fine in Highland justice court.

The New York State Bridge Authority has released final figures for 1969 showing a record revenue on the five bridges it operates of $4,454,901 and record traffic of 16,521,193 vehicles.

The Mid-Hudson Bridge at Poughkeepsie and the Newburgh Beacon Bridge topped the five million vehicle mark for the first time, the former with 5,179,222 and the Newburgh Beacon span with 5,192,242.

The Kingston Rhinecliff Bridge showed a year-end traffic count of 2,159,507 as compared to 2,057,178 in 1968. Revenue on the bridge for the entire year of 1969 amounted to $569,902 as compared to $548,160 in 1968.

McCarthy Begins Five-Day Visit In Soviet Union

MOSCOW (UPI)—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., met for an hour today with the chairmen of the two houses of the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) and visited the rooms used by Vladimir I. Lenin in the Kremlin.

McCarthy arrived in Moscow Tuesday for a five-day private visit, hopeful of a meeting with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. No appointment has been announced.

The senator's Kremlin visit came following a meeting with Ivan V. Spiridonov and Justus I. Paleckis, the nation's two parliamentary leaders.

McCarthy received cheers and applause from a group of 190 American tourists Tuesday night who heard of his presence in the city and invited him to a reception.

After light heartedly hinting of a new presidential campaign, McCarthy, who is held in relatively high regard by the Soviets because of his antiwar stand, may meet with Premier Alexi N. Kosygin or some other high-ranking Soviet leader, diplomatic sources said.

NEW YORK (AP)—Police entered the first Spanish United Methodist church in East Harlem this morning to end a 10-day occupation by Puerto Rican activists.

Four patrol wagons parked outside the church as police officers went inside to ask the Young Lords and their supporters to submit peacefully to arrest.

Police arrived at the church about 6:30 a.m. as snow continued to fall.

State Supreme Court Justice Saul S. Streit signed arrest warrants Tuesday for four leaders of the radical group and about 50 "John and Jane Does."

The Lords seized the church to operate a breakfast program and health services for neighborhood children after church officials refused to provide room in the church building for the programs.

Police End Occupation By Activists in Church

EPIPHANY GIFT — Pausing momentarily in his job of handling Rome's monumental traffic problems, Italian policeman accepts gift of live rooster from pedestrian, on this Day of Epiphany. Traditionally, Epiphany commemorates the coming of the Magi to Jesus at Bethlehem and Italians throughout the country celebrate the occasion by presenting gifts to policemen. (UPI CABLEPHOTO).

Pope Critical

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI, who has often praised science for bettering man's welfare, criticized it Tuesday, saying it had weakened and deadened man's spiritual sense.

"It even dares to say God is dead," the pontiff told several thousand persons gathered in St. Peter's Square for an Epiphany Day blessing. "No, God is not dead. The sun has not been extinguished."

Man has been blinded by an awareness of science, the Pope said. "Our eyes are closed and do not see the divine dawn which come over the rational horizon."

Boy Relates Five-Day Ordeal In Refrigerated Railroad Car

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A teen-aged boy from Texas who barely survived imprisonment in a refrigerated, railroad-borne truck trailer, insists, though with foggy recollection, that his ordeal lasted five days.

His father, a veteran truck driver experienced with refrigerated equipment, contends, however, that no one could survive more than 24 hours of that confinement.

Jesse N. "Billy" Parker, 15, of Corsicana, Tex., and his father Jesse Sr., 39, spoke to a reporter Tuesday at Mercy Hospital, where the boy was responding to treatment for exposure, shock and frostbite.

Workers at the Niagara Frontier Food Terminal discovered the youngster lying naked and unconscious Monday on crates of tomatoes that nearly filled the 40-foot-long trailer.

The container had been carried "piggyback" on a railroad flatcar since leaving Nogales, Ariz., on Dec. 29 and had been kept at a constant 45 degrees to preserve the produce.

When rushed to the hospital, the boy had a heartbeat so faint that blood could not be taken for a test. His body temperature was estimated at 82 degrees, well below the range of normal clinical thermometers.

Billy rallied Tuesday, however, his temperature rose to a normal 98.6 degrees and he was transferred from the intensive care unit to a semi-private room in the pediatric section. Doctors listed his condition as fair.

The boy gave differing accounts on how he happened to enter the trailer, but in each case he said it occurred at 9:30 p.m. New Year's Eve in Corsicana.

In two versions he said he was chased by two boys near the railroad yards after deciding to take a walk.

"I ran like a real red-blooded all-American boy but there was another one in front of me as a kind of stakeout, and he knocked me down," Billy related in a soft, hesitant drawl.

In one story, he said the youths forced him into the trailer but in the second he said he could not recall how he had gotten into it.

In a third story, he said he rode for a while on the flatcar carrying the trailer then went inside the container because it was relatively warmer.

He said he did not know how the trailer's door was closed and insisted he had not removed his clothing, even though they were found in the container.

Among his only other recollections was shouting for help whenever he felt the train coming to a stop, but his voice did not carry through the trailer's thick, insulated walls.

"I yelled and I screamed and I kicked the wall but nobody heard me," the youngster said.

Billy said he subsisted on tomatoes during the journey. "That's all I ate," he said quietly. "I never grew so sick of tomatoes in all my life."

The elder Parker, who has six younger children, said he doubted the accuracy of much of his son's accounts.

"I don't think he stayed in the trailer more than 24 hours," Parker said. "Based on my experience, I don't think he could have lived in there longer than that."

Somewhere along the line where the train stopped, he must have gotten on it," he theorized in trying to explain the mystery.

Buffalo police, who are equally puzzled over the case, said they learned that the trailer may have been resealed with a metal tag when it passed through Pine Bluff, Ark. The tag applied in Nogales and the one found in Buffalo bore different numbers.

Railroad officials were trying to trace the trailer's route from Nogales to see whether it passed through Corsicana.

Billy's close call was not the first he has had in his young life.

He recovered from encephalitis, an often-fatal disease also known as sleeping sickness, only to be severely injured in an automobile accident in December, 1968, during which he suffered brain damage. He was hospitalized in Galveston, Tex., for 2½ months after the crash, his father said.

The accident left him with memory problems and head pains.

Parker, who flew to Buffalo Monday, said he would remain here until Billy could be released, possibly in a week to 10 days. The hospital set aside a room for his use.

The elder Parker has been in Buffalo before—driving produce trucks to the same terminal where his son was found.

Although giving the hospital staff full credit for its work in bringing Billy back from near death, a relieved Parker said quietly:

"I think the good Lord had more to do with it than anything else."

COLD TALL ONE—The three sons of State Police Sgt. and Mrs. Robert Schrader of Okawville, Ill., said they got carried away when they began a snow sculpture project at their home. Jeff, 13; Jim, 16, and Tom, 20, started out "to do something different," and three hours later had produced a beer bottle that has attracted considerable attention from passersby. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

More Classes Resume In Mississippi Schools

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Three more school districts with black student majorities and another facing the threat of a white boycott resume classes in Mississippi today under orders from the Supreme Court for immediate total desegregation.

The districts were the latest among 30 of Mississippi's 148 school districts included in the Supreme Court's sweeping October ruling that sounded an end to the "all deliberate speed" concept in favor of a "desegregate now" policy.

Holmes County, where there are almost six Negro students for each white, prepared to implement the first part of its two-step desegregation plan.

Desegregation also was to begin in Natchez-Adams schools and Hinds County schools, where Negroes students outnumber whites by at least 1,000.

In Forrest County there are four whites to each black student, but a citizens organization has protested the court's mandate. The group called for a total boycott of white students today.

Previously, only three districts with substantial changes in student assignments had begun regular classes this week. In Columbia and Quitman, desegregation was accomplished without incident in districts where whites are in a majority. At Wilkinson County, however, only two whites remained in the public school district along with 2,700 Negroes. Most of the other 800 whites enrolled in private, segregated schools.

Many other districts are holding registration with classes scheduled to open at varying intervals over the next two weeks. Even during registration, whites have been noticeably absent in predominantly black districts and where the desegregation plan called for whites to enroll at formerly all-black schools.

"Our problem in Wilkinson County is simple," said Julius Carter, a member of the board of the newly formed private school system. "Our children would be outnumbered in the public school system five to one. There's no way to live with that."

Goes Too Far

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—A thief first stole Francisco Perez' television set. Then he swiped Perez' daughter.

Perez returned from work Tuesday and was told by his 16-year-old daughter Luz that neighbor Martin Vega had stolen the family television set, police said.

Perez dashed to his neighbor's house but was unable to find Vega or the television set. When Perez returned home, police said, a younger son reported Vega had run off with Luz.

GE Rejects Proposal For Fact-Finding

NEW YORK (AP) — The General Electric Co. has rejected a proposal for fact-finding in the 11-week-old strike by 12 unions, saying it hopes for progress in negotiations with the entry of the government's top mediator.

GE's turnaround came Tuesday after the two largest of the unions had accepted the fact-finding board proposed by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., saying it recommendations could lead to a settlement.

Earlier Secretary of Labor George P. Schultz had announced in Washington that J. Curtis Counts, director of the Federal Mediation Service would enter the stalemate talks later this week.

Fred J. Borch, GE's board chairman, said in a telegram to Javits: "I feel sure that you will agree that the entry of the federal government's top labor mediator will provide new impetus to get the negotiations moving again toward a just and prompt settlement."

"This new development offers a shorter route toward ending the strike and does not require a new fact-finding board to be familiarized with the complex and contractual issues involved."

Javits replied in a statement that he was "grateful for the unions' acceptance of my fact-finding recommendation and sorry about its rejection by General Electric. But that is the right of the employer as it would have been of the unions."

"I feel the big virtue of my proposal was that it would have assured an end to the strike. Continuing present negotiations leaves that question open. I can only hope that more progress is made in the coming days than in the last 11 weeks, for the time has certainly come to end the strike."

Javits made his proposal Sunday, saying the nationwide strike by 147,000 GE workers "has lasted long enough." It was accepted by the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and the independent United Electrical Workers.

Outstanding Citizen Search Is Announced

WOODSTOCK Former recipients of the award are Benjamin Webster, Ray Lauterbach, John Stephano, Michael Boyle and Nelson Shultis.

Waters points out that many individuals contribute much time and effort toward making their community a better place in which to live and receive little or no recognition for their endeavors. These individuals are only rewarded by a feeling of self-satisfaction for their civic activities. The presentation of this award is intended to show that these efforts are not going unnoticed.

A panel of prominent citizens has been established to act as a selection committee to determine the recipient who will receive the award at a banquet scheduled for Feb. 13.

Each nominee will be judged on the basis of the following:

Contribution to the community, state, or country and to the general welfare of the people.

Demonstration of leadership ability as indicated by civic involvement and personal achievements.

Evidence of personal and employment progress.

All nominations must be on official forms available from the Woodstock Jaycees, Box 745, Woodstock. They are also available from Len Waters, project chairman, any Jaycee and at Mason's General Store, Housh's Hardware and Victor Basil, Hairdresser.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS in veterans payments are delayed each year because veterans and their families move without notifying the VA or the Post Office of their new address. Your prompt notification of these agencies will save them a lot of work and expense in trying to locate you and you won't miss out on your benefit checks when you move.

DON'T FORGET to complete and return your annual income questionnaires if you received one with your November 1st pension check. The deadline is Jan. 15, 1970—but by completing and returning it now you will be sure it reaches the VA before the deadline. Failure to return the questionnaire could result in loss of pension checks in the months ahead.

CONTRARY TO POPULAR BELIEF, the grace period for GI insurance premiums has not been extended. It continues to be 31 days from the premium date. However, the VA has extended the period for acceptance of later premiums from 45 to 61 days from the due date. Since the grace period is not extended, there is no insurance coverage between the end of the grace period and the 61 day cutoff date for filing a timely premium.

Diers Retires, With The Freeman Since 1920

CHARLES J. DIERS

By HUGH REYNOLDS
KINGSTON

Things weren't quite the same at The Daily Freeman Jan. 1, 1970. That was the day that Charles J. Diers, a Freeman employee for almost half a century, retired.

Diers came to The Freeman in April of 1920 as an office boy in what was then known as the Freeman job printing office on the second floor of the building. The Freeman phased out its job printing operation in the early '50s and Diers became a proof reader in the composing room, a position he held until his retirement.

A Long Vacation

"Charlie," as he is known at The Freeman, looks at retirement with an open mind. He speaks of it as a "long vacation." "We don't have any special plans. I'll just go around and have a good time. Maybe the wife and I will take short trips, here and there. Maybe I'll do some more bowling."

Diers bowls with the Triangle Tavern in the Tavern League at Sangi's Bowlero. "I'm only averaging about 150 this year. I averaged 167 last year. I guess I'm getting lousier."

The Triangle Tavern is one of the places Diers gets around to now and then. "There's a good bunch of guys up there. We have a few beers, play the bowling machine and talk politics."

Diers has maintained a life-long interest in politics but says he won't get more active now that he has the time. "It's too late now," he said. "I wish I had gotten in earlier, though." Diers turned down an invitation to run for alderman in what was then known as the 13th Ward about 25 years ago.

Radel, Heiselman Favorites
His favorite political figures?

"I like Ed Radel and Connie Heiselman," Diers said that former Mayors Edwin F. Radel and Conrad J. Heiselman were "nice guys." "They always stopped to talk to you."

Things have changed a lot since Diers first came to work for The Freeman 50 years ago. "You young fellows might find it hard to believe but Downtown was really a booming area in those days. If any of those old timers saw it the way it is now, they'd start crying."

Diers has had a life-long interest in sports, being the only original member who is still active in the National Little League. He has served as president and vice-president for the past seven years.

He was also one of the original managers and coaches of the Fraternal League which later became the Babe Ruth League. Diers was the manager of the Gruenwald Home Leaders in the late 1930s which won the city league championship in 1937. "Local baseball was a major attraction in those days before television," Diers said. "We'd get a couple of thousand people at our games on a Sunday afternoon in the summer."

Diers is also a member of The Freeman Social Club, a charter member of The Freeman 20-Year Club, a long time member of the '50' Club and a member of Rescue Hook and Ladder Volunteer Fire Company on Abel Street.

He was married to the former Harriet Madden on Feb. 9, 1927 at St. Mary's Church. The couple has three children, Ronald, Charles and Harriet Ann and 12 grandchildren. Diers and his wife have lived at 213 Abel Street since 1941.

Brooklyn Native

Diers was born in Brooklyn, N. Y. and moved to Dewitt Street in the Wilbur Section of the city as a boy.

That, too, was a long time ago and now Diers faces retirement with mixed emotions. "I'll miss The Freeman. It was always a good place to work. They never laid anyone off, even during the depression when things were really rough. I worked with a great bunch of guys."

But then, retirement isn't all that bad. "I still wake up around the same time every morning but then I say to myself, 'Charlie, you're retired now, take it easy. So I roll over for a couple of hours more sleep.'"

The best wishes of The Freeman go with Diers in his retirement. As Richard L. Treat, general manager put it, "Charlie was a good employee and we'll miss him. We hope he has many happy, healthy years ahead of him."

The Way to Win

Dale Carnegie—A Beginning Necessary

Number Two in a Series

They tell of the artist who always dreamed of the great works he was going to create. He sat for hours at a time if anyone would listen, and told of the great paintings he was going to do that would place his name in the halls of fame, there to remain through the ages of time. He was going to begin his great work as soon as the time was right—but not today. He could not begin just now because he was not in high spirits, he felt slightly depressed. He would not be able to do such important work tomorrow because the gardener was coming to trim the hedge. The next day he felt a bit tired and so it went, day after day one insignificant thing after another delayed the beginning of his masterpiece. He went through life always looking forward to the day when everything would be just right for him to begin the most important project of his life—but not today. No one ever saw his great paintings except himself in his own imagination. No one can tell us his name because no one remembers what it was.

An old proverb says, "The way to do things is to begin." Another reminds us, "Even a journey of a thousand leagues begins with a single step." So many of our dreams are shattered against the rocks of procrastination because we don't begin. We can seldom find everything just right for the beginning of our journey to greater achievement. Usually we can visualize some hurdles and barriers across our pathway, obstacles that need to be overcome before we can reach our goal. But we must begin our journey, we must take the first step, we must proceed to the first obstruction and when we reach it we will probably find that it is not as difficult as it appeared from the distance. As we approach, it will often diminish as the illusive mirage on the torrid floor of the desert. It was John Wanamaker who said, "One can walk over the highest mountain one step at a time."

We may become discouraged if we visualize the journey to our goal as one long difficult trek filled with obstacles and setbacks, but it will seem much easier if we look upon it as a series of short steps to be taken one by one, until we realize our objective. That first step is often the hardest of all but if we will bolster our courage and take that first step we are well on our way to the fulfillment of our aspirations.

(The next Dale Carnegie course article will appear in Friday's newspaper. The course is sponsored by The Daily Freeman.)

"We were delighted and privileged to have these beautiful mother-daughter voices as lovely and generous talents given to a melodious and series support of the 1969 TB-RD-Health

They were two members of a large group of more than 100 persons who directly aided in the total efforts of the Christmas Seal drive."

Bottle-Feeding Techniques Affect Baby's Development

By G. C. McDANIEL
CHICAGO (AP) — The way a baby is given his bottle may affect his mental and physical growth.

Dr. Maria Piers, a child development authority, claims bottle-feeding techniques reflect the attitude of the mother toward the child — and this is especially important in a child's future development.

Breast-feeding, when possible, is the ideal relationship between mother and baby, believes Dr. Piers and others.

"When this is not possible, however, the baby should be held in the mother's arms and fed in a quiet, warm way," she says.

"Bottle propping," in which the baby is left to feed himself, characterizes the kind of neglect which retards — and at times completely inhibits — the baby's development.

Dr. Piers noted the problem is most severe among the poor, where the effects of parental neglect are most obvious.

But it exists in degrees in all social and economic classes. Even though a baby may receive adequate nourishment, he will fail to develop fully unless he is held and cuddled and talked to.

A psychologist and dean of the Erikson Institute for Early Childhood Education, Dr. Piers pointed out that grossly neglected children fail to gain weight, their limbs and organs do not develop and their intelligence is at the imbecile level.

Dr. Piers, who recently co-authored with Dr. Robert Coles, a psychiatrist, a book called "Wages of Neglect," said it is impossible to estimate the scope of the problem of neglected children. "Even people who do something about it are squeamish about talking about it. I suppose the whole society is ashamed that neglect is as severe as we find it," she said.

Typically, neglected babies can be seen lying forgotten in understaffed, busy hospitals, where they get a minimum of attention at changing and feeding time. Their existence is vegetative.

Many of these babies are abandoned by parents, and others require long-term hospitalization because of illness.

In their homes, they are found in environments of extreme poverty and hopelessness, where the mother is chronically depressed and has an "I don't give a damn" attitude, Dr. Piers says.

"Because her family is large or because she is tired of having to cope with poverty, these mothers don't have enough energy or time to devote to the baby." It is in this environment where infanticide, or the killing of babies, often occurs, she added.

In economically favored families where neglect occurs it "is not so total and blatant," she said. "Usually then there is someone else to take care of the child." But she outlined mothers who return to work shortly after childbirth, complaining they are harming their babies.

A child learns from the start of life, from seeing and feeling. Skin contact and being talked to are important to a baby, Dr. Piers says, as well as seeing the response of those who care for him and feeling their muscular response.

Dr. Rene Spitz, 83, noted Viennese psychologist, now of the University of Colorado, Denver, participated recently in a news conference with Dr. Piers.

"The child alone doesn't develop into a human being," he pointed out.

After the child is 9 months old, it is nearly impossible to reverse the decline of the neglected baby, he said. The baby's personality develops, he said, between the ages of 3 and 9 months.

The Second Forty

By MARGARET BROOKFIELD

Dear Miss Brookfield: I have a problem with my kid sister. Understand, I like animals but my younger and unmarried sister keeps a rabbit, a monkey and three cats in a three-room apartment. Would you believe it? I can't bear to visit her. I don't know how she can live with the stench of all her animals. (Did I tell you she also has two turtles?) I have tried talking to her but nothing helps. What do you suggest?

J.P., Los Angeles, Calif.

Dear J.P.:

I suggest you visit her less often. But maybe this problem will solve itself — she may fall in love with a man who likes animals, but only in their natural habitat.

Childish Husband

Dear Miss Brookfield: My husband's job enables him to work anywhere. We are childless and have been married for 20 years. Recently, he went to the West Coast on business. When he returned, he insisted we move out there immediately. All my friends are here in the East. The cost of moving furniture is prohibitive, even if I had the strength to pack all of the pieces and articles I have acquired throughout the years. I asked my husband to wait a while before we undertake this move. He refuses and says that if I won't go with him now, he'll go without me. Any suggestions? I'm at my wit's end.

A.D., Boston, Mass.

Dear A.D.:

Your husband may be at that "fed-up-with-it-all" age when many middle-aged men (and women) yearn to pull up stakes and get away — anywhere, so long as it is far enough. Most people just dream about it. But, as your husband isn't tied down to a job, he may well carry out his plan. In his way of going about it, however, he exhibits a rather callous attitude toward you and your problems. You say you have been married 20 years. In all that time, is it possible that you have never acquired the habit of calmly discussing the pros and cons of a situation before arriving at a decision? Or have you just been giving in for 20 years because, like a child, your husband threatened: "If you don't, I'll do it anyway." If this is true, start packing and/or advertising that your furniture is for sale. You're bound to lose this round, too.

Inconsiderate In-Law

Dear Miss Brookfield: I love my daughter-in-law but sometimes I am convinced she is either stupid or inconsiderate. I am 56, mature but not ancient. Yet, on my birthday she sent me a hot water bottle. Even though she is young and rather "mod" I was so furious I almost returned it. I didn't. But I haven't thanked her. Should I?

F.S., Madison, Wis.

Dear F.S.:

Yes, thank her. But when you can, on some cold evening, ask her — ever so sweetly — if she would like to borrow the hot water bottle. If that doesn't help, next time she gives you a granny-type gift, just say: "I think it's charming. But whatever in the world is it for?" Maybe she'll get the message.

Have you a problem as a mature woman, or with one? For advice and help, write to Margaret Brookfield, Information Center on the Mature Woman, 3 West 57th Street, New York, N. Y. 10019.

Katherine Carnright Weds J. S. Orsulich

MRS. JAMES S. ORSULICH

Announcement was made today to The Freeman of the wedding of Miss Katherine L. Carnright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Carnright of 8 Kane Street, Saugerties, and James S. Orsulich, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Orsulich of RFD 4, Saugerties, at St. Mary of the Snow Church in Saugerties.

The Rev. Joseph Hamilton officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Nan Dickman, organist, provided traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of red and white gladioli decorated the altar and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk velvet in the empire style, fashioned with a high collar and long sleeves which featured seed pearl and crystal embroidery. A chapel length train was attached to the waistline.

Her silk illusion veil was shirred to a velvet Camelot cap and she carried a cascade of white gladioli and garnet sweetheart roses.

Miss Suzanne Bombard of Beacon was maid of honor in a Christmas red velvet gown in the empire style, with high neckline and long sleeves banded with white Venise lace. She wore a headpiece of white fur and carried white fur muff trimmed with holly and red velvet ribbons.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Eileen Sanford of Delhi, Teri Myer of Washington Avenue in Saugerties, cousins of the bride; and Georgia Ann Orsulich of Saugerties, sister of the bridegroom. Their gowns, headpieces and muffs were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant.

Miss Suzanne Dodg of RFD 2, Saugerties, cousin of the bridegroom, served as flower girl in a Christmas red velvet gown styled similarly to the gowns of the other attendants.

Richard Fogg of Boston, Mass. was best man. Ushers were Vincent Sicurella of New Jersey, cousin of the bridegroom; John Nagy, Watertown; and Dennis Ferraro of Glasco. David Carnright, brother of the bride, served as ringbearer.

A reception for 120 guests was held at the American Legion Hall, John Street, Saugerties.

For her wedding trip to New York and Nassau in the Bahamas, the bride selected a red wool coat with matching skirt, white sweater, brown accessories and a corsage of roses and gladioli.

The bride, a graduate of Saugerties High School, is a junior at State University of New York at Albany where she is an English major.

Her husband, an alumnus of Saugerties High School and Ulster County Community College, was graduated cum laude from State University of New York at Albany, and is a member of Delta Sigma Pi fraternity. He is employed by IBM, Kingston, and is a member of National Guard, 156th Artillery, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Orsulich will reside at West Camp.

Combined Religion Classes Hold Play

On Saturday, Dec. 20, the combined religion classes of St. Joseph's and St. James Methodist Churches held their second annual Christmas play.

The story, "The Journey of the Wise Men," narrated by Brother Thomas of the Christian Brothers was enacted by these children. Mrs. John Bentley is director of St. Joseph's classes and Mrs. William Studwell is director of classes at St. James Methodist.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Dear Mr. Post: Although Christmas is passed, I still have writer's cramps from hand-addressing hundreds of Christmas cards for my boss in keeping with a senseless and impractical rule of etiquette. Senseless because the "personal touch" is actually that of the secretary, not the executive. Impractical because of the time required in comparison with using the typewriter. With gift selections for customers, personal shopping for the boss, ad infinitum, who needs it?

The coin has a ludicrous side. The envelope is handwritten by the secretary, and often contains the signature of the employer, or even more ridiculous it may even have the name of the company or executive printed at the close of the message.

Perhaps one day some courageous person of influence in the realm of etiquette will see it "like it is" and come to the aid of the secretaries. How about you? — Miss R.

Dear Miss R.: I do not "see it like it is," or at least as Miss R. sees it. I agree with her regarding business cards. They are not personal and may be typed, especially those bearing the company name and message. But social cards should be hand-addressed, and preferably by a man's wife. Even a widower, or a man whose wife cannot do their cards for some reason, should request that his secretary address those cards by hand, even though the signature is printed.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am the new president of a church group. We are giving a tea to raise funds. The tea is at the church. Is it necessary to have a welcome address and response when giving a social affair of this nature. We are having a speaker and music. Should the minister make remarks about the program? — Mrs. H.

Dear Mrs. H.: As president of the organization, you should say a few words of welcome at the time that you introduce the speaker. When he finishes, it is your duty to thank him. Afterwards, it would be most appropriate for the minister to greet the guests, and indicate his appreciation to the speaker.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that I receive each week, I will send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette. The question chosen, and its answer, will be published in this column every Friday. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Daily Freeman, and don't forget to include your name and address.

Miss Tweedy Will Study Mexican National Art

Jeanette Tweedy of Kingston, a student at Eisenhower College, Seneca Falls, begins her January

Independent Studies this week, the most exciting portion of the academic year at Eisenhower.

During the month of January all students at Eisenhower are engaged in an in-depth study and analysis of a project of their own choice. This allows the student to reach out on his own without the regimen of organized classes but with the supervision of a faculty member to delve into some topic of high interest to him. To allow a greater freedom of study and subject area, the January Independent Studies are graded "Pass, Fail or Honors" so that a student interested in some subject not in his own academic concentration may accept a challenge knowing that his overall grade average will not be affected.

Miss Tweedy has chosen for her Independent Study Mexican National Art.

While many of the students choose a study topic formulated by the faculty, there are about 60 topics annually that are generated and designed by the students themselves with faculty approval.

Eisenhower College is a four-year, independent, coeducational, liberal arts college now in its second academic year. Named in honor of the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower, it is the only college in the nation to so honor a President during his lifetime. Enrollment is now 450 students with a maximum enrollment of 1500 students expected in future years.

JULIA AND STEVE CALLAHAN — New Year's Eve revelers got an explosive head start on midnight merry making at Woodstock Artist's Association where the Performing Arts of Woodstock staged one of its most hilarious evenings in years. It began with a sleeping Adam on stage being awakened at the moment of creation by the offstage voice of God, and then yawningly turning over and asking the Lord for just five minutes more sleep. That piece is the start of Mark Twain's witty "Diary of Adam and Eve" which is played by Julia and Steve Callahan. It is followed by other observations on man's continuing relationship to woman by such authorities as Shakespeare, G. B. Shaw, Dylan Thomas, Jules Feiffer, and other successful and rejected lovers. Everything is tied together with an informative, running commentary by Steve Callahan, and presented by him and his wife Julia as "Adam Plus One," an anthology of scenes from plays about men and women. It will wind up its five performance run Friday and Saturday at Woodstock Artist's Association in the center of Woodstock. Curtain will be at 8:30 p. m. (Palmer photo).

Ellenville Auxiliary Reports

In a message published in the Ellenville Community Hospital Auxiliary Newsletter, Gerry Wenig, president, has reported great strides made during the year 1969.

"Our meeting room dividers and new storage rooms have greatly improved the appearance of the downstairs storage area, to say nothing of the convenience to the many services that use this area," she stated.

In other areas, Mrs. Wenig reports that the messenger service has been made easier by the hand craft of Bob Michel, Roy Griffen and Bos Mosher. "No more arms full of newspapers and pockets full of mail. There is room on the top of the cart for all. The bottom shelf holds the stationery kits," Mrs. Wenig says.

The gift shop has a new display case, Marge Hornbeck is now serving as the new director of volunteers, the "Day at the Harry Resnick Motor Museum" was a success and the children at Homowack Day Camp donated their proceeds from a carnival to the Auxiliary, the Auxiliary president reported.

Serving as officers during 1970 with Mrs. Wenig will be Mable Chipp, first vice president; Terry Hoar, second vice president; Ruth Suggs, treasurer; Phyllis Rubin, recording secretary; and Evelyn Greenberg, corresponding secretary.

Pioneers Slam Kingston, 69-40

POUGHKEEPSIE
After trailing the visiting cagers of Kingston, 7-6, in the early going of the first period, Poughkeepsie's Pioneers went into a full-court press to rout the visitors, 17-7, leading 22-7 at the end of that quarter. Poughkeepsie went on to defeat the Maroons, 69-40, in non-league action last night.

Gary Stauderman and Jack Cohen led the scoring outburst for the winners in that period as Kingston was able to bring the ball over half-court but three times. The Maroons committed many turnovers and missed key shots during that period.

Both teams started the second quarter cold but Al Quigley began to control the boards and the winners had a 30-11 lead as Coach Bill Maher began to substitute in the late going of the second stanza. Poughkeepsie took a half-time lead of 33-15.

The Maroons, led by Jim Carroll and Bruce Gerbarg, came storming back with 17 points in the third period, but again missed many layups and foul shots as the Pioneers managed to outscore them, 18-17. Four technical fouls were called in that period. One on Tony Johnson and two on Maher as the flamboyant Poughkeepsie mentor tossed his tie onto the court to protest a call by referee Roy Bullymont.

A technical was called against Kingston's Chuck Jackson for not raising his hand when charged with a foul.

With Roger Patrice controlling the boards with Quigley and sixth man Charlie Smith doing the scoring, Poughkeepsie once again gained control of the tilt, outscoring Coach Mike Rienzo's boys, 18-8 in the final period.

Quigley was high man for Poughkeepsie with 12 points. Johnson had 11, while Smith and Stauderman added 10 apiece. Carroll was high for the losers with eight as the Poughkeepsie defense held the Maroons out of the double-figure column.

"We missed too many layups and foul shots, particularly in one and one situations," said Rienzo. "We hit but 38 per cent, 10-26, from the foul line, but Poughkeepsie was just too strong in every department for us," he concluded.

The Kingston JVs won their fourth in a row, downing the junior Pioneers, 38-29. Gary Longto was high for the winners with 11 points as Ron Burris and Jim Ferraro did outstanding jobs for the Maroons.

Kingston's next game is Tuesday night at Monticello, when the Maroons open their DUSO League season.

Middie Matmen Win Over KHS

MIDDLETOWN Ron Shields registered his fourth win of the season for Kingston High's grapplers, but it was to no avail as the matmen of Middletown decided the visiting Maroons, 43-10 in the opening match of the DUSO League wrestling schedule yesterday.

Wrestling in the 132 pound class, Shields decided Gary Ward, 9-5, but Kingston was only able to capture one more win for their days work. John Mizel, wrestling for the Maroons for the first time in the heavyweight class, pinned Nick Costanzo in 4:36. Mizel looked good in his win as he thwarted each move made by Costanzo, finally dropping his opponent to the mat, pinning him for the victory.

Bob O'Reilly was the only other wrestler for Kingston to finish in first via the tie route as he and Terry Goble fought to a 1-1 draw.

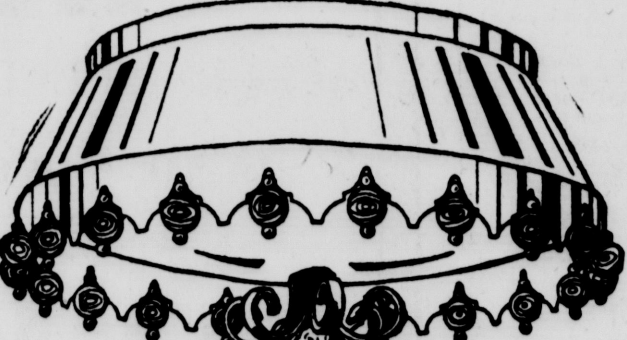

"We didn't look very good and I'm quite disappointed with our team's performance," said Kingston Coach Ed Pfeiffer. "However, Shields and Mizel did a real, good job. We'll improve," he concluded.

Knicks Bop Cousin Bullets, 129-99

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
For the New York Knicks there's no tonic for basketball like the Baltimore Bullets.

The Knicks, struggling of late and losers of two straight, blasted Baltimore 129-99 Wednesday night for their ninth straight victory over the Bullets including four this year and four in last season's playoffs.

New York's victory boosted its lead in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division to 6½ games over the Milwaukee Bucks and 8½ over Baltimore.

In other games, Cincinnati outlasted Phoenix 128-124, Atlanta edged Seattle 101-97 and Chicago nipped Los Angeles 105-100.

In the American Basketball Association, Miami took Indiana 103-100, Denver downed Los Angeles 120-112 and Dallas defeated Washington 138-120.

SU-Yeshiva—The Have-Nots

NEW PALTZ

Storm warnings are up from the Gulf to New England on the eve of State University's three-game safari into the hinterlands, but hard pressed Coach Doug Sheppard sees a ray of sunshine for his 2-7 basketball squad.

The Hawks are in New York City tonight to battle equally oppressed Yeshiva University and as Herb Falk, the witty Director of Sports Information at Yeshiva put it, "somebody has to win this one."

If the Hawks have been through the crucible in Phase One of the 1969-70 season, Coach Bernard (Red) Sarachek's cagers have found it equally elusive.

"We are 1 and 8 up to now," said Falk. "We haven't scored more than 69 points in any one game and have given up about 80 a game."

Alerted to New Paltz's 65.4-79.4 rating for nine games, Falk was quick to quip: "Since you can't have ties in basketball, somebody has to win this one."

No Home Advantage
Would the home court advantage work in favor of the Yeshiva team?

"We don't have a home court," he replied. "We play our games on a high school court in Long Island. So you can write off that edge."

Despite its lowly estate, Yeshiva has one "big man" in sophomore Rich Salit, a 6-footer from Brooklyn, who is hitting at a 26-point clip. Next best scorer is freshman Dave Gettinger of Atlanta, Georgia, hitting at 13 per game.

Coach Sheppard's game plan obviously will be to concede

Salit his daily harvest and concentrate on stopping the other Yeshivians.

With Earl Turner, the precocious sophomore, no longer on the squad, the Hawks have only one double-figure scorer on the team—captain Jim Leonardo at 13.6 for eight games. Sam Garafalo and Rich Gabriel, the fine rebounder, at 9-plus each. Turner was hitting at a 17-point clip before his precipitous flight from the squad.

Snap Losing Streak

The Hawks snapped a six-game losing streak by trouncing Western Connecticut, 102-72, in the Christmas tournament in Connecticut, but fell victim to Eastern Connecticut, 100-60, in the finals. New Paltz achieved a seasonal high in scoring against Western Conn.

New Paltz travels to the big snow country for a pair of games this weekend—Friday at Potsdam and Saturday at Oswego. Potsdam is 1-2 overall, Oswego 4-3. Each has lost its only SUNYAC game to date. The Hawks have dropped four.

Five games are scheduled in the State of New York Athletic Conference this weekend. Brockport is at Plattsburgh Friday. Other Friday pairings are Brockport at Potsdam and Geneseo at Oneonta.

Introducing A Used Car Guarantee . . .

It Doesn't Come With Every Car

It's a 100% guarantee. Not one of those "we pay half" you pay half deals.

And it comes only with used cars that pass the Volkswagen 16 point Safety and Performance test.

This is how it works. When we get a car as a trade in, we give it the inspection. Check it out completely. If it passes, we tune up, tighten, repair or replace everything that needs tuning up, tightening, repairing or replacing.

Then we guarantee it 100% repair or replacement of all major mechanical parts* for 30 days or 1,000 miles.

What kind of cars get our guarantee? All kinds of Chevys, Fords, Ramblers, VWs. (We get all kinds of trade-ins for new Volkswagens).

So, the next time some body tries to sell you a used car that's "just like new," ask about the guarantee. Then remember us.

No, our used cars aren't "just like new." No used car can be. But no used cars could be in better shape, either.

Dear Abby

Definition of a Jew

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(c) 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: You were asked in your column, "Is a Jew a Jew because of his religion, or because of his race?" You replied, "I like Ben Gurion's definition. 'A Jew is anyone who says he is.'"

While Ben Gurion may be a very distinguished Jew, he is not an authority on religious matters. Also, he is badly mistaken.

The accepted Jewish law is as follows: "A Jew is a person who was born into the Jewish peoplehood by a Jewish mother, and who never left his faith by accepting another religion, or one who has accepted the Jewish faith by an official conversion to Judaism ceremony."

In other words, a Jew is a Jew because of his religion, and not because of his race. Neither race nor nationality exclude anyone from becoming a full-fledged Jew.

As you know, Sammy Davis Jr. is Jewish because he converted to Judaism. To which RACE does he belong? He certainly didn't change his race by becoming a Jew; he changed only his religion, but he remains a member of the race he originally belonged to.

Since your column is read by many intelligent people, I think they deserve a more authoritative answer to the above question. I would appreciate it if you were to print this in your column.

Sincerely,

RABBI MOSHE M. MAGGAL

NAT'L JEWISH INFORMATION SERVICE

DEAR RABBI: Thank you for a more authoritative answer to an oft-asked question. I am amazed to learn that Ben Gurion's definition of a Jew was something less than "kosher."

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago my ex-husband married his longtime mistress with whom he has been living for the past year. (I'll call her Joyce.)

My problem is that I have two teen-aged children who were old enough to know what was going on at the time, so you can imagine how they feel about Joyce. (Strangely enough they still adore their father and place all the blame on Joyce.)

Well, this stupid woman has been trying to win the children over with expensive gifts, so at Christmas time, in addition to the gifts from "Dad and Joyce," the children received separate gifts from "Joyce" alone. Her gifts are still setting here, unopened. My children say they do not want to keep her gifts, and they've asked me to send them back to Joyce.

Naturally, I don't have any love for this woman, either, but now I don't know what to do. What would YOU do?

BITTER, TOO

DEAR BITTER: I'd stay out of it. And since the children still "adore" their father, why not let HIM handle it?

DEAR ABBY: I am 75 years of age and have traveled all over the world as a salesman for a well-known international concern. I retired five years ago.

I did not marry until I was 50 because my job had me on the go most of the time. Thus I have met all types of girls in the five continents. As a general rule, I found blondes to be shallow, red-heads volcanic in temper, and brunettes the most sincere of all. And for an all-around even-tempered agreeable girl, give me one on the heavy side.

I married a brunette. She was nice and plump and not what you'd call pretty, but she was a wonderful companion and a marvelous homemaker. She was 40 years old when I married her, and she promptly gave me a lovely daughter and a handsome son. She is now 65. And I worship the ground she walks on.

"How did Handsome Jim ever marry such a tub of lard?" they all asked at our wedding. Ah, the ignorance of most people!

"HANDSOME JIM IN BOSTON"

DEAR ABBY: I don't see what the controversy over sex education in the schools is all about. It's the PARENTS who need the education, not the children. After all, it's the parents who are always asking, "Is that a boy or a girl? I can't tell the difference."

It's In The Stars

"The wise man controls his destiny..."

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JANUARY 8, 1970

A FAMOUS FRIENDSHIP could go on the rocks; arouses gossip and creates some headlines.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): May take will power to overcome tendency to be extravagant. Win rather than attempting to buy affection. One who attempts to take financial advantage will be transparent.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Don't push too fast, too insistently. You will get a new deal, more independence and added credit for accomplishments. But let others sing your praises. Practice modicum of modesty.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Don't go too far afield. You gain most by sticking to what you know. Your intuition is accurate. Hunch pays dividends. Accent on what is at a distance, writing and advertising.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You are subject to rule by emotion today. Know this, and give logic some room. Specifically, you delve into unknown areas. Unless careful, this could be costly. Get expert opinion.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Joint efforts succeed. You cannot expect to do everything alone. This also means that you should share spotlight today. Permit mate, partner, close associate to shine.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Pace yourself. Avoid becoming overly fatigued. You may feel you have to do everything at once. Trying to do so would be foolish. You have wonderful ability to analyze. Utilize it today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): By moving toward goal with confidence, you gain. This means that today you should stand up for beliefs. You should strive forward, be creative and throw off senseless fears—try it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You could be in expansive mood. You want to spread your wings. You are not likely to be satisfied with status quo. But be sure you don't trade something for nothing. Know what is of value.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Light touch gains; heavy-handed methods lose allies. Know this, and act accordingly. You have added responsibility. But rewards today can also be greater.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Guard possessions. Avoid tendency to be careless while in celebratory mood. Finish project. Take long-range view. You can increase income potential. Look beyond superficial indications.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): There are blocks, obstacles. But you can personally surmount these today. Takes new viewpoint—maybe some new wearing apparel. Speak up, express personality. Refuse to be bullied.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Some factors have yet to come to light. Know this, and avoid wild-goose chase. Simply means this may not be day for purposeful journey. Wait for additional information.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY this could be one of your most significant years. Business and personal areas improve; if single, marriage could be on horizon. There are promotions, added responsibilities. There could also be an addition to family.

The inverted minor raise is an Eastern invention that has skipped the entire central part of the United States but has reached California. It has not achieved any real popularity, but the Walsh team uses it and it worked beautifully with today's hand.

Paul Soloway's two-club bid was one of these inverted raises. It showed a good hand with good clubs and was a strong one-round force.

The bid gave East a chance to stick in a two-diamond nuisance bid and Jerry Halley and Paul were off to the races.

Paul's three no-trump bid was an effort to play the hand there. Jerry's raise to four was not Blackwood but rather a raise in no-trump to show great slam interest. Paul felt that he had given his all as regarded a slam but he also felt that, with five very good clubs, the hand might well play better there than in four no-trump. His ace of diamonds might well be the key card for a slam. The five-club bid was enough for Jerry. He went on to six.

The diamond lead gave him no problem. He took dummy's ace, drew trumps with two leads, led dummy's 10 of hearts and let it ride to West's queen. Then he claimed his slam, announcing that he would discard two of dummy's spades on his hearts.

The queen of spades lead by West would have beaten the slam and some players might well have made that lead. Result experts looking at all the cards can find plenty of excuse for it but we never fault a player at the table for not having second sight.

'All My Children' Endowed

NEW YORK (AP) — There are some very experienced hands at work on ABC's new soap opera, "All My Children." The early afternoon serial is in its premiere week and expertise was very evident in the first couple of episodes.

These first programs are the hardest because the characters must be introduced and the seeds of story lines planted. This series, even in infancy, is endowed with all the elements beloved by soap fans plus some new-fangled switches designed to make it contemporary and attractive to the young and house-bound.

We have Amy, happily married to rich socialite Lincoln Tyler in spite of their childlessness. Amy—and here's a kicker—is a rabid "social activist" an ABC phrase working with a women's peace group and embarrassing her conservative in-laws by joining a protest demonstration and getting her picture in the paper.

This all seems tied up in Amy's intense feeling for her young nephew, Phil, a high school senior who expects to be called into military service. She is given to mooning over his picture—enough to hint to the veteran soap-watcher that there is something mysterious there.

Phil's family consists of his mother, a nurse, and his crippled father. At least he thinks they are his parents. Phil's girl, Kathy has a widowed father who is a doctor and an uncle who is missing in Vietnam action.

COMRADE'S BODY — Their heads bowed, firemen carry away the body of their comrade, Carmine Puccina, 53, who was struck by a train Tuesday as he fought a fire in the Penn Central railroad tunnel beneath New York's Park Avenue and 90th Street. The fire, apparently caused by ice on the third, or power, rail, disrupted traffic temporarily. A man, standing in the train's doorway, raises his hand to his head to make the sign of the cross as Puccina's body is carried away. (UPI TELEPHOTO).
